" The best part of summer was Beulah Beach Camp were I became closer with friends and with God."

-Sophomores Tina Mohn and Stacy Hoy

This year NPHS students left the school on June 3 to enjoy a summer of fun. Many students spent their summer at camps, retreats, family vacations, or stayed back at New Philadelphia for athletic practices, or just laid back and enjoyed summer. When summer was coming to an end, it was time to realize that school was going to begin . It was time to rekindle friendships, make new friends, and get ready to hit the books, with memories of the summer still lingering."The best part of summer was going to St. Clairsville for summer basketball league , we went 9-0." said Sophomore Anne Geib ."As we realized that we were a year older, more mature, and ready for harder work, we had to prepare for the end of the year, when we will use all the knowledge we've gained, throughout the school year," commented junior Season Cole.

Round'em Up

"The fair is a lot of fun! I'm looking forward to 1995!"
- Janelle Cronebaugh

This year the Tuscarawas Co. fair "rounded up" many NPHS students to come and take part in the fun. The fair took place this year from Sept. 19-25. There were several students who worked hard on the junior fairboard, running shows, cleaning barns, and doing other things to help run the fair and "Make the Best Better." The best part about Jr. Fairboard this year was that we had just gotten a new leader and she didn't know much about the fair, so the Jr. fairboard got to run most of the livestock shows on their own and we proved we could do it well," quoted senior Courtney Simmons. Freshman Tiffany Wigert did very well with her pig, steer, and dog. She said, "I was happy about my placings." Others came to look at the exhibits, ride the rides and have fun.

On and Off the Field

"Even though we did not go to Nationals, we made up for it with our trip to Toronto."

-Senior Molly McAfee

Band season officially started in August. This was when they began learning the drill for this year's show. A lot of work was accomplished at band camp this year. This was where everyone got a chance to become better friends or make new ones. After getting back from camp they started to prepare various shows for halftime entertainment at the football games. This required an extra effort from everyone, but they worked together and managed to pull it off. The community especially liked the Elvis show. During the winter the band prepared to go on their trip to Toronto in the spring. There were various fund raisers which the community supported greatly. This was definitely a lot of work, but was well worth the effort. This was a great way to end the season.

-Junior Marisa Kilpatrick

This year Student Council chose as its theme for homecoming "Stairway to Heaven". The dance was held in the High School gymnasium. Student Council used blue, white, and silver as its colors. There were angels standing on clouds which had everyone's name on them. The court was represented by freshmen Jamie Klingler and Tori Rogers, sophomores Camille Cardani and Haley Shearn, juniors Angie Fazakas and Holly Glazer, seniors Christie Airgood, Marcie Mangon, and Brandi Ballentine who was crowned queen at the game.

The music was provided by WJER who kept it rolling strong from 8:00 P.M. to 11:00 P.M. Everyone enjoyed dancing to the ever popular song, "YMCA". They also enjoyed doing the Electric Slide. Brandi led her court in a dance to the theme song "Stairway to Heaven".

"It was a great experience to finally win a Homecoming game, defeating GlenOak, and giving the fans, students and players something to be proud of."

-Senior Jamie Bente

The 1994 New Phila Homecoming game was a victorious battle. The New Phila Quakers defeated the GlenOak Eagles 14-13. It was the first homecoming game won in over five years. The crowd was behind the team all the way. At the end the students showed their enthusiasm by running to congratulate the team on their win. It was a close game all the way, but the mighty Quakers came through, prove their superiority and watched the Eagles fly away.

The Week

"This years spirit week was great and the best part was that it ended with a win."

- sophomore Steph Staggers

"Phila/ Dover week is one of the most exciting and memorable weeks of the school year for the New Phila High School student body. Everyday of the week had a different theme to pump up the spirit for the upcoming game. On Monday, students dressed up as nerds so they could "Outsmart Dover." Tuesday, the school wore robes and pajamas because "Dover's All Washed Up." "Phila's Groovin'," was Wednesday's theme as the student body wore 60's attire and dressed as hippies. On Thursday, the lights were turned out, the students wore black, and carried flashlights, as they prepared to "Blackout Dover." Friday's theme was the traditional red and black day as the students wore the school colors for the "Red and Black Attack."

The Spirit

"The pep rallies this year were great.
The students and community were full of enthusiasm."

- Senior Jan Baker

Every year the students and the community are as much of a part of the victory as the team. This year was no exception. Throughout the week Secret Seniors decorated the senior football players lockers. Thursday evening the senior class hosted their annual spaghetti dinner. The dinner was followed by a community pep rally at the gymnasium. Hundreds of students, alumni, and fans in the community attended. After the pep rally there was a spirit walk to Tuscora Park. Senior students had painted the street during the school day. At the park there was a bonfire. These events raised the spirits of the students, players and community, preparing them for an exciting victory.

The 90th Game

"It was a great end to a great season."
-Senior Dale Korns

The Phila / Dover game is always the most exciting game of the season, but this year was packed with more spirit than usual. November 4 was the 90th meeting of the rivals. Quaker Stadium filled with fans as the students from both schools arrived looking forward to a big win. Despite Dover's not so impressive record, the Quakers practiced hard for the game. Their efforts paid off as the Quaker students and fans watched the home team fight to a 16-9 victory. The Quakers finished the season with a record of 7-3, their best in 10 years.

PURPLE HAZE

"Each year gets better and better."

- Junior Heather Johnson

The Sweater Hop took place on November 23 at the YMCA. This has been a tradition that has been around for many years. It is a place where everyone from different schools in Tuscarawas County can come together for a good time. It is also a time when Dover and New Philadelphia can put aside their rivalry. The theme this year was Purple Haze in honor of Jimmy Hendrix. The music varied from all types to suit everyone in the crowd.

enjoyed by all in attendance. Vocal performances were given by the Delphian Chorale, Bel Canto Choir, and Ladies Ensemble. Instrumental music was supplied by the freshmen and senior percussion ensembles, along with the Concert Band. The program was concluded with a combined choir performance, with an invitation to the audience to join in the final carol. The concert was an enjoyable evening for all.

"This was our best season yet. We had strong defense and speed."- Ryan Catola, junior

The 1994 soccer team had a very exciting season. Although the over-all record ended up with a few more losses than wins the team battled every match against some of the harder competitors in the state. The highlight of the season was the second annual night game against arch rival Dover. In an epic battle in which both teams had the opportunity to gain victory each had to settle for a 1-1 tie. The Quaker Soccer Team ended the year with a record of 6-10-3.

When asked to comment on the season, Junior Ryan Catola said, "This was our best season yet with our strong defense and speed."

Facing a difficult and rugged Federal league schedule, fielding a young team only consisting of one senior Carrie Coutts. Under second year head coach Amy Hall the Quaker volleyball team ended their season with a disappointing four wins and sixteen losses as their record. "It is too bad that the scorebooks don't record the amount of heart that the athletes put into the game, or this years team would have gone undefeated." said Coach Amy Hall. At the end of the season the team realized that the efforts that they had made weren't in vain, but were practice for next year. Awards handed out at the banquet were as follows: Most improved Mandy Moeller, Academic Athlete Carrie Coutts, and the Coaches Award was given to Shanda Burger.

"The whole team improved their personal best times and also their record from last year." Coach Dean Kreinbihl

This year the Quaker cross country team was under the direction of first year coach Dean Kreinbihl. The team also was motivated by the seniors on the team. Their strong desire to get ahead made the Quakers achieve many improvements. One of these improvements was the decreasing of all the runners' best times. Another achievement was the overall record of the team which was 3-5 this season. Also adding to the list of achievements was the Quakers second place finish at Districts. This finish sent the team to the regional competition. Although at Regionals the Quakers did not place high enough to move on, it was a success just to be there. The Quaker team was able to move forward this year, and proved to have a season of many successes.

Making Waves

"This year swimming for NP was better than the first five swimming for the Y." -freshman Katie Holder

One of the least known sports here at NPHS is the swim team. Although they swim at the Y, with students from other schools, it's still a varsity sport. This is their fourth year in existence and the team has grown tremendously both in size and experience. When asked to describe her best match, freshman Katie Holder said, "Edging out a girl who was ahead of me the whole way and getting first in the 200 yd freestyle." However, they still do not have enough participation to form their own Federal league team. But without a doubt there is a willingness throughout the NPHS swimmers to do their best.

Unfinished Business

"With only one senior, this team laid the foundation next year we'll put the roof on it! We have some unfinished business!" - Coach Dennis

The Lady Quakers worked hard all season but came up short with seven wins and fifteen losses.

This year's returning lettermen were senior Regina Pringle, juniors Crystal Drescher, Traci Harris, sophomores Anne Geib, and Mandy Moeller. Other girls playing varsity were Jen Lee, Jhama Trunk, Deven Corwin, Sheri Specht, Lindsey Fenton, Abby Domer, Angie Fazakas, and returning coach Mr. Dennis.

The players receiving awards were with most assists Regina

Pringle, most points - Regina Pringle, most rebounds - Crystal Drescher, defensive award - Crystal Drescher, best foul shooter - Jhama Trunk, most improved - Deven Corwin, coaches award - Traci Harris, and academic award went to Traci Harris.

Bouncing Back

Maturity, development, and off-season conditioning would influence the team throughout the season"

Although the Quaker team did not have a winning season, they ultimately bounced back. They opened their season with a big win over Paymont, but then dropped their next four games. The Quakers continued their season with only five more wins. At the end of their season was a downhill battle as the team lost their final eight regular season games, but then it was tournament time.

The team had to first face their arch rival Dover, which also was the number one seeded team in their division. The Quakers played an exciting game, and upset the undefeated Tornadoes with a score of 60-51. The Quakers next step in the tournaments was against West Holmes, a team whose record was equal to that of the Quakers. The Quakers beat West Holmes with a score of 49-41, winning the sectional title, and moving on to play Cambridge in the Districts. The Quakers played well against Cambridge, but were defeated by a last second, tie-breaking shot, that ended their tournament dreams.

Devoted Dribblers

"This season was the greatest, for me, I had the chance to play with more skilled players on the reserve level, and dressed varsity for the best game of the season." - freshman Cie Grant

The 1994 - 1995 reserve boys basketball team pulled out a record of 8-12 in a rugged Federal League schedule. Big wins for the Quakers were Timken, Alliance, GlenOak, Wooster, and beating rival Dover twice. As the year progressed six freshmen were added to the reserve roster, Ryan Rieger, Cie Grant, Brian Stull, Jeremy Page, Aaron Wallace, and Cory Beitzel. Rieger and Grant were major contributors as freshmen for the reserve team. Under the leadership of new Quaker coach Mike Motil, the freshman ended their record with 10-6. They defeated

Federal League foes, Jackson, Timken, Wooster, GlenOak, Alliance, also rival Dover twice. "The experience of playing the Federal League teams gave the players a taste of what their future basketball years would bring," commented Coach Mike Motil.

"The team really improved as the season went on. We learned to work together."

- Senior Carrie Coutts

The Varsity Quaker softball team finished their season with a record of 9 - 13 overall and a record of 6 - 10 in the Federal League. Despite their record, the Quakers played tough throughout most of the season. The team stayed focused and kept working hard to improve themselves. The Quakers pulled out very impressive wins over Federal League opponents Wooster and Jackson. They also defeated Dover to win the first annual Leo Gundy Softball Tournament. The leadership on the team was great as the seniors took control and really helped to encourage the underclassmen. This year's team consisted of six seniors, two juniors, two sophomores, and two freshmen.

The 1995 J.V. Softball team was composed of 14 players (1 junior, 1 sophomore, and 12 freshmen). This year's final record was 4-10. Many of the teams they played were made up of sophomores and juniors with experienced pitchers and their lack of hitting did not produce many runs. They improved their skills as the season progressed and this made for a very enjoyable year. With the return of all the players this group could well become a very good softball team.

"I knew that this season would be a tough one, but team unity accounted for all of our wins."

- Senior Randy Noah

With Only eight lettermen returning the 1995 New Philadelphia Quaker varsity baseball team ended their season with a disappointing record. The Quakers faced a tough Division I schedule which accounted for most of their losses. One highlight for the team was taking the championship title at the Leo Gundy sports festival, where they played Claymont and Dover on April 29, 1995. After rallying to come back and beat Claymont in the first game, the Quakers defeated an experienced Dover team in the Leo Gundy Championship game.

In the final part of the season the team improved to win three out of the last five games.

Attempting to throw out a base runner is sophomore Josh Noah.

The Reserve Team

ended their year with a 9-8 record. They also tied three games. Paul Matter and Shane Buckhor were the top hitters. Shane Buckhor, Doug Wright and Neil Stein each had a homerun, and Eric Dalpiaz pitched the most strike-outs. Both teams had a good season and kept in the swing of things.

Awaiting the next hit is Brian Neff.

FRAME OF MIND

AS THE STUDENTS WERE WORKING HARD OUTSIDE OF SCHOOL, WITH JOBS OR EXTRA CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES, THEY STILL HAD TO KEEP FOCUSED ON THEIR SCHOOLWORK.

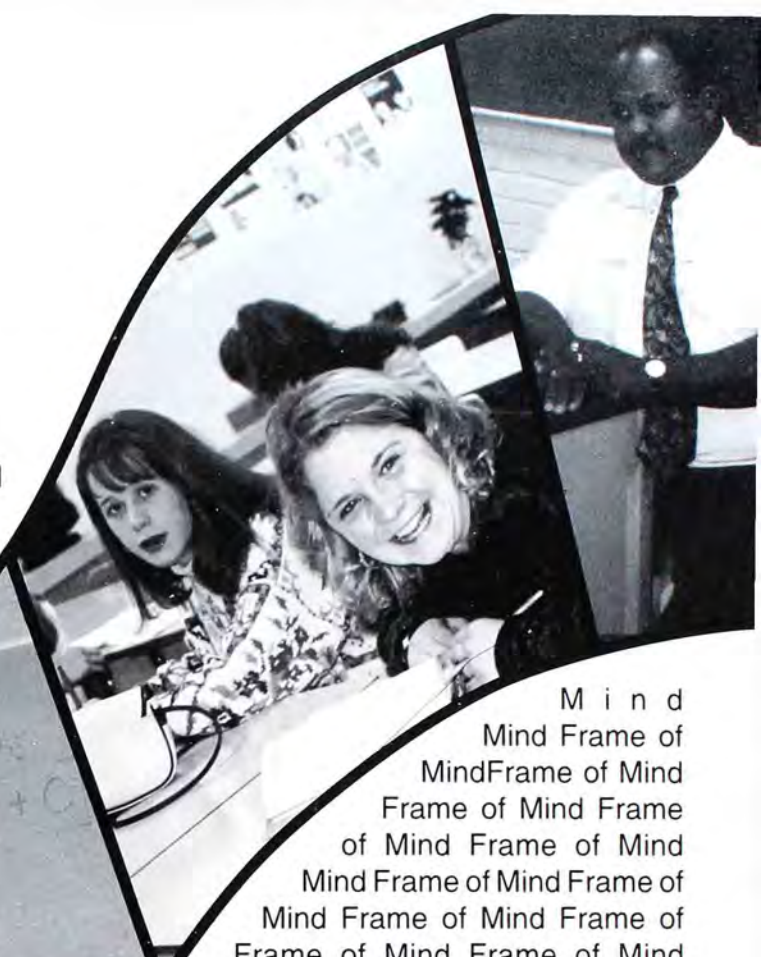

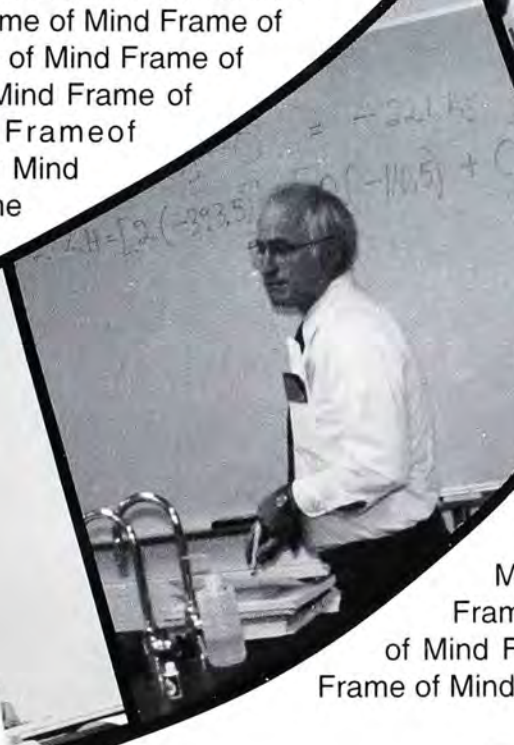

SOME STUDENTS TOOK ON EXTRA JOBS SUCH AS OFFICE HELPERS, ATTENDED BUCKEYE OR PARTICIPATED IN THE SCHOOL WORK PROGRAMS. KEEPING FOCUSED IS NOT AS EASY AS PEOPLE ASSUME , IT TAKES A GOOD FRAME OF MIND.

Jen Still finishes up her drawing in her 8th period art class. Working hard on her lab assignment is Jen Miller.

WITH ALL OF THE ACTIVITIES THAT GO ON IN SCHOOL STUDENTS HAD A HARD TIME . . .

Staying On Track

With any year, one of the hardest factors in keeping up with studies was extra-curricular activities. With all of the confusion and excitement teachers had a hard time controlling the students. "Even though the beginning of the year was filled with much excitement, I realized as a senior that I needed to buckle down with my studies, so that I could get into a good college." commented Senior Susan Munitz. As the year progressed the students began to get on track.

Senior Ben Kinsey takes an accurate measurement in his drafting class.

Working on an art project are freshman Steph Jenkins and Brandi Thurman.

Waiting for class to begin are sophomores Travis Fouts, Laressa Hall, Jen Blackwell, Erica Barnhill, and Camille Cardani.

Taking notes during his Chemistry II class is Aaron Gibbs.

Walking into class on the first day of school is sophomore Derek Rose.

Goofing off in class is sophomore Stewart Dixon.

BUCKEYE JOINT VOCATIONAL SCHOOL IS TRYING TO SHOW OFF A NEW AND BETTER IMAGE BY GETTING A...

New Name

Times are changing at Buckeye. This year the school board chose to drop the "Joint Vocational School" and change it to Buckeye Career Center. The new name projects a positive image of the students who choose to go to Buckeye. The school offers students an opportunity to take mandatory classes that they need for graduation and at the same time pick from a wide variety of vocational skills to learn a valuable trade. Each student is able to find the course or courses that will help them in the future. The options include careers in Business, Education, Marketing Education, Industrial Programs, Graphic Arts, Mechanical Programs, Building Trades, Agriculture Programs, Food Management Programs, Personal Services, and two specific Senior Programs. Business Education has five major programs including Word Processing-Stenography, General Secretarial, Clerical Secretarial, (continued on page 90)

Programs at Buckeye include Agriculture and diesel Machines, Small Engines, Truck Mechanics, Auto Body, and Auto Mechanics. Three building trades are offered. These are Carpentry, HVAC, and Masonry. There are also three Agricultural Programs including Natural Resources, Horticulture, and Farm Management. The Food and Management Programs are Food Processing and Restaurant

Management. There are four Personal Service Programs at Buckeye Career Center. These are Child Care, Health and Therapeutic Recreation, Cosmetology, and Diversified Health Occupations. Finally, there are two Senior Programs offered. These are Cooperative Offices Education and Diversified Cooperative Training.

PICTURE PERFECT

THE EMOTIONS OF MANY STUDENTS AT NPHS HAVE BEEN CAPTURED ON FILM. AS THE FILM WAS DEVELOPED THE THRILL OF VICTORY, THE AGONY OF DEFEAT AND THE JOYS OF FRIENDSHIP HAVE NOW TAKEN THE FORM OF PICTURES. THESE PICTURES EXPRESS A THOUSAND WORDS BUT THIS DOESN'T MEAN THAT LIFE HERE AT NPHS IS NOT ALWAYS PICTURE PERFECT.

Looking Back

The class of nineteen hundred and ninety-five was in its own way unique, as is every class that passes through the halls of NPHS. One thing that made this class different than the rest is the fact that it graduated four sets of twins. These twins were Ben and Fred Kinsey, Kevin and Melanie Rilke, Brian and Kelly Williams, and Amanda and Angela Wright.

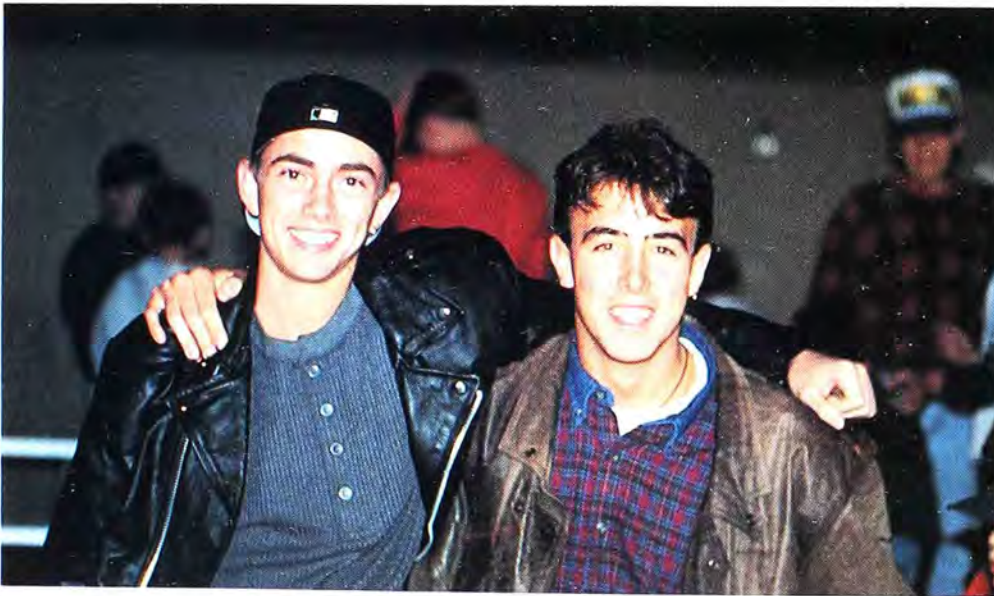

Also making the class of 1995 special was the exchange students that were welcomed into our school this year. Iliana Anzola, from Venezuela, Lenka Mularchikova, from Slovakia, and Duc Linh Van Tri, from Germany spent the year making new American friends while learning about a different culture.

Each senior who graduated from New Phila High this year added his or her own personality to the class, making it unique. All of these personalities blended together to make the diverse class of '95 one that will be remembered for many years to come.

"I'll always remember the great times I spent with my friends during my senior year."

The Rides of 95

Celebrating their pending graduation the class of 95 invaded Cedar Point on Tuesday May 30 th. Going to Cedar Point marks the end of their years at N.P.H.S. It has become a tradition each year for the seniors to go on one final trip together. Not only does the class enjoy the amusement park and all its rides, there also was a banquet held to announce the winners of the senior superlatives. It was an exciting day, filled with fast rides, junk food, and good friends, that was finished off with an outdoor banquet.

The Road Ahead

Senior Class President Ben Kinsey began the ceremonies speaking to the graduating class of 1995 about choices to be made referring to "the road less travelled". He challenged the class to make the right decisions and to become the leaders of tomorrow. Valedictorian Ben Mizer spoke of goals, telling the class "shoot for the moon, for if you miss you will land among the stars".

The day began overcast but as Mr. Sattler called the role the sun broke through the clouds and shone on the class of 1995.

Stepping Up

This year's junior class was very active in school activities. They worked at the concession stand at all of the home basketball games and wrestling matches to earn money for the prom, which they planned. Decorating for prom was something all the juniors looked forward to as a class.

Being juniors they were taking a big step getting prepared to be seniors next year. The idea of going to college was just starting to set in. Some students had already taken the SAT and the ACT, while other students were already beginning to look at colleges.

As well as going to school, many students had jobs. Many students had also chosen to play sports. They took on many responsibilities to set good examples for all the lower classmen. They were given permission to go out for lunch this year. The juniors had taken a major step up this year.

Junior Allen Compher is busy studying in the library.

Cori McKeever is opening her locker during Wash Out Dover Day of Dover-Phila week.

Standing in position to hit the ball is junior Claire White.

OUT TO LUNCH

Leaving to go out to lunch are Jennier Lee and Cono Barbara.

A privilege that the juniors received this year was being allowed to go out for lunch. This made many of the juniors happy. For the past two years they were disappointed in having closed lunch periods. This was something they had looked forward since middle school. But this year things changed. They were finally given the opportunity to show they were responsible young adults. Not only did it make the juniors feel excited, but it gave them a chance to show the school and the community they had a good sense of responsibility.

Some of the junior's favorite places to go for lunch were McDonald's, Wendy's, and Taco Bell. Most of the students drove to wherever they were going to eat. But for those who didn't drive, they could walk to Dairy Queen or Dante's.

Stepping up

The Students entering their sophomore year were a different bunch from the freshmen who walked into N.P.H.S. the year before. They were no longer the little freshmen who got picked on by the upper classmen. They were older, more mature and more confident. "I think as we get older we carry a lot more responsibility and realize what's important," quoted Jennifer Reed. The Sophomores also had many big events to look forward to such as turning sixteen, getting their Driver's Licenses, and getting jobs.

Behind The Wheel

Many sophomore students really looked forward to the school year. Most turned sixteen and a long time dream finally became a reality. They received their driver's license! Drivers education classes were boring but well worth the time. "The best thing about having a driver's license is you don't have to ask your mom to take you everywhere," quoted Rob Danzo. Students feared their driving tests more than any ordinary quiz, test, or exam at school, but when they passed it was more exciting than a regular test. For many came new found freedom, but for others who had to buy their own cars came responsibility.

New Experiences

"This year has been the best ever, starting in a new school with old friends, made us begin to think about the exciting future ahead of us." -Kelly Meese

As this year began not only were some teachers and coaches new, there were also many new faces added to the hallways of NPHS. This year began many new adventures to experience and to try. With the outcomes not always certain, the freshmen class was ready for anything that might come their way.

When asked about her first high school year Jan Klingler responded, "The fun is just beginning!"

Stressful Times

"The exams were the biggest transition from Middle School, where we didn't have any." - Emily Kopp

A new experience for the freshman class was exams. "It was the worst week of my freshman year," said Katy Kreinbihl.

The preparation for the exams started weeks before the actual test, so the students would have time to study. "It was a very stressful time for most of the freshman class, but the time spent waiting for the results was the worst," commented Jen Still.

Looking to the Stars

This year the board and administration introduced many new programs. They established prime time days for teacher inservices. This enabled the students to come in at 8:45 to school while the teachers came in at 6:45. It gave the teachers and administration the opportunity to look at other school systems and plan for the future of New Philadelphia curriculum. One of the goals of high school principal Mike Herchik was the establishment of a Tech Prep program. The Tech Prep program was a joint effort between local businesses Buckeye Career Center and other area schools. The object of Tech Prep was to prepare non-college bound students with an education that would prepare them for technical school or a job in a technical field.

The Renaissance program was another exciting innovation introduced in 1994. The idea behind the program was to reward students getting good grades or improving on their grades. Mr. Herchik recruited local businesses to offer rewards to students for their positive achievements.

Treasurer, Steve Sherer, takes a rest from keeping track of all the school's finances.

Teacher Knows Best

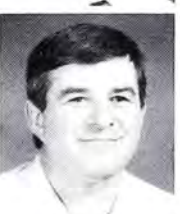

This year, like every year, the teachers at New Philadelphia began to settle down and get into their usual routine. The teachers had to adjust to many changes such as, alternate bell schedules, new exam schedules, and the usual job of keeping students on task. Overall this year was a big accomplishment for both the students and the teachers." Because my students are creative, challenging, and often times cliquish this year has been precious, commented Mrs. Grove Renicker

GROUPS

EVERYONE CONTRIBUTES TO THE SUCCESS OF NEW PHILADELPHIA HIGH SCHOOL. EACH STUDENT PLAYS AN IMPORTANT ROLE WHETHER IT BE AS A SPECTATOR OR AS A PARTICIPANT IN ONE OF THE MYRIAD OF ACTIVITIES OFFERED. IT IS THE PARTICIPANTS OF THESE MANY GROUPS WHO MAKE NPHS SUCH A GREAT HIGH SCHOOL. INSTEAD OF STANDING BACK AND WATCHING FROM AFAR THEY ARE THE ONES ALWAYS ZOOMING IN.

All Together Now

The cheerleaders kept the crowd 100% behind the teams all year.

The cheerleaders had a great season this year. Whether New Phila was winning or losing the cheerleaders showed their spirit by keeping the crowds enthusiastic. They were all especially spirited this year, and that truly showed through at pep rallies and games. This spirit showed through because the squads never gave up on the team, instead they kept right on cheering. The cheerleaders all worked hard this year and stuck together.

The 1994-95 Varsity Cheerleaders attended cheerleading camp at O.S.U. this past summer. The Varsity received daily awards of excellent and superior ribbons. They were also awarded a "Spirit Stick" each day. For their final evaluation they received a Superior plaque and a third place trophy for their home dance category and they were all awarded a "Spirit Stick" to bring home. The reserve squad did very well also. They received superior ribbons and "Spirit Sticks" for their daily evaluations.

Dancing to the Top

The QT's take their show on the road.

The QT's had a very exciting season. As always they danced for the team and helped the student section cheer.

The QT's began getting ready early in the summer. A lot of early morning practices payed off at the Universal Dance Association Summer Camp at Oberlin College where they received first place for their home routine and an overall superior trophy. Due to their success the squad was invited to perform at the East-West All-Star Game and performed at half time of the Phila-Dover football game. The QT's greatest achievement was qualifying and attending the "National Dance Team Championships" in Orlando, Florida. The Championships were held in early February with hopes that the QT's would be featured on ESPN.

Busy As Usual

Though there were not many student council members, they still pulled through with a winning effort.

This year's student council was directed by Mrs. Grove-Renicker. She came from Claymont High School and taught college prep and practical English this year. Student Council was involved in many activities this year. The first event was planning and decorating for the homecoming dance which was held in October. They participated in Share-A-Christmas. They bought gifts for a family consisting of two children and two adults. During Dover-Phila week, they made banners and hung them up in the gym and supported the team. In March, they led a very successful blood drive in cooperation with the Community Blood Program and WJER. In March they had a student exchange day with other area schools. Throughout the day, students were able to view a day at New Phila High School, and some of our students went to other schools as well.

Each homeroom has two representatives that are supposed to attend each meeting. The representatives reported back to their homeroom about the meetings to inform their classmates of the upcoming events, such as activities pertaining to games and dances.

President, Susan Munitz, spoke on WJER every Monday morning informing the community of the school activities and events for the week.

Members earned points for participating in events and those who had the most points went on a ski trip to Boston Ski Mills. Everyone that went had fun. This was the second annual year for the ski trip. "Being the youngest students council officer was very challenging and fun," said sophomore Keri Sergent.

Feel the Rhythm

The Dance and Flag Lines showed enthusiasm through their artistic expressions.

The Dance Team and Flag Lines performed well in the 1994-95 school year. Their first competition was at Struthers. The second was at Apakoneta, and the third competition was at Canal Winchester, they went on to the State Championships in Vandalia, and finally on to the national level. This competition was held in Dayton Ohio. The Dance Team placed fourth at that competition.

The Dance Team performed their routine to the song "Mmm, Mmm, Mmm", by The Crash Test Dummies. The Dance Team had difficult competition but they performed well. The Flag Line performed to "Lucas with the Lid Off" for the 1994-95 school year. The Flag Line also performed great. Both of these lines competed well, showed their enthusiasm, and felt the rhythm as they performed their shows.

Overwhelming

No one but the staff realizes the amount of work it takes to make the yearbook.

To most students the yearbook is simply something they pay for in the fall and pick up in the summer, but to the students on staff it is much more than that. Work begins in the summer with ad sales and is not complete until the books are distributed the following summer. Stress is also a very real part of producing the Delphian. There are constant deadlines to meet, and new problems to face. Another aspect of the yearbook that is not seen by the rest of the student body is teamwork. Each member of staff has their own individual jobs and assignments, but the staff must work together to accomplish the total task. With all of this working together, thirteen staffers and one advisor do not always agree on how things should be done. Once again teamwork comes into play and compromises must be made. The greatest reward of being on staff is the final product in its complete form. Finding this true is senior staff member Michelle Lantzer who says "It is a great feeling to open the yearbook after all the work is done and see all of my time and effort paying off."

Do Re Me

A big part of the vocal music at N.P.H.S. is just practicing the scales.

There were a variety of choirs to be involved in at N.P.H.S. in the 1994-1995 school year. From freshman choir, concert choir, ladies ensemble, and the elite Delphian Chorale. All of these choirs participated in several performances throughout the school year.

The Delphian Chorale was selected to take part in the annual Christmas parade, which goes through Dover and New Philadelphia. Every year on February 13th and 14th the delphian chorale offers Singing Valentine's to the Tuscarawas Valley.

As a group, the choirs came together to take part in the Christmas concert, spring concert, and barn concert. The barn concert is the final performance for many of the students who participate in the choirs. For the seniors this was a very sad time, almost all of whom were in tears at the end.

In 1995 the New Philadelphia

choirs participated in the District eight competition at Lake High School. The Delphian Chorale received an "excellent" rating in Class AA. The concert choir received "superior" rating in Class C, and the Ladies Ensemble received a "superior" rating in Class B. These students were all commended for the hard work and outstanding representation of N.P.H.S..

A Cultural Experience

With all the different music played at the concert, an experience of culture was felt.

This year's concert band lead a very successful year. They started the season off with two fund raisers. One of which was the annual fruit sale. The other was a Music Marathon. The Music Marathon was an activity that lasted all day. Both the freshmen-sophomore and junior-senior bands performed as well as the middle school bands, the high school jazz band, dance line, drum line, and flag line. They raised over $5000 for their trip to Toronto, Canada.

At state contest both bands participated. The junior-senior band received a superior rating and the freshmen-sophomore band received an excellent rating. Some of the music selections played by the junior-senior band were Kilimanjaro and The Walking Frog. The freshmen-sophomore band played The African Road, and Explorations. The African Road and Kilimanjaro are two songs that express a multi-cultural feeling.

During the beginning of the 1995 concert season, Mrs. Graham, the band director, took a bad fall on the ice and broke her ankle. Therefore, she was unable to stand and direct the band in the 1995 season. Instead she had to sit on a stool on top of a podium and direct.

On April 1, 2, 3, and 4, the band traveled to Toronto, Canada. This was a very exciting experience for everyone. While they were there they performed on City Square, which was downtown. After the performance, they ate at the Rock Diner where they ate dinner and danced. Besides performing the band was able to tour the CN Tower and the Skydome. They also ate at the Hard Rock Cafe. One of the most thrilling experiences was seeing "The Phantom of the Opera."

The spring concert featured each senior playing a solo or ensemble. Some of the songs played were Light Eternal, The Baritone Boogie, Rootbeer Rag, and The Phantom of the Opera. At their annual concert at Endres, they played the same song from their spring concert. Overall they ended with a very successful concert season.

While in Toronto, Gene Walker, Sarah Benkowski, Kelly Flickinger, Erin Perks, and Nick Gross dance at the Rock 'n Diner.

Playing in the Music Marathon are juniors Jamie Bloom, Jennifer Shroyer, Mindy Sharp, and Kelli Wilhelm.

In the song the Walking Frog, senior Molly McAfee plays the bells.

Moving to their form are the bass drum and quint lines.

The Phantom Line

This year the Winter Drumline's show portrayed The Phantom of the Opera.

The Winter Drumline chose four movements from the second half of The Phantom of the Opera for their show in 1995. These included "And of Music" and the "Music Box Theme". Everyone was very excited about trying new things. The drumline worked hard and managed to perform very well. The winter drumline attended their first competition at Wapakoneta, where they received first place. The Drumline also went to Canal Winchester where they earned another first place. The drumline competed at the MEPA State Championships in Vandalia, where they placed first. At the national level in Dayton, Ohio the drumline placed eleventh out of forty-two lines competing that weekend.

The Winter Drumline had a lot of fun over the year. They experimented with new ideas and forms. All of these new aspects added to the intensity and drama of their show. While in Toronto the Drumline performed on the square in downtown Toronto. This was a new and exciting experience for everyone.

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS

THROUGHOUT THE HALLS STUDENTS WITNESSED MANY...

Officers with "Class"

It is a necessity for all classes to have class officers to make everything go as smoothly as possible. According to senior class historian, Gretchen Ricklic, "You must be organized in every way possible." Once again the senior class was involved in sponsoring a family for the Share-A-Christmas Organization. They raised money so that they could go shopping at area stores for the needy family. Even though they were not permitted to meet the family "it was still an enjoyable time for giving," said senior Jessica Bair, class secretary.

The junior class was involved with the many decisions involving the senior prom. Junior Heather Johnson, class historian, said that planning for prom takes a lot of effort and time after school to prepare for. The class of 1996 was also involved with the first N.P.H.S. computer dating program for grades nine through twelve, which proved to be very beneficial for raising money.

The sophomore class was busy selling pop at the basketball games in preparation for their chance next year with the decoration of prom.

And finally the freshman class continues to sell popcorn during all home basketball games.

Making the Grade

It was an exciting evening for everyone, as the new members were officially inducted.

On Wednesday May 3, 1995 the National Honors Society held its annual induction ceremony. The ceremony opened with a welcome from the president Scott Flickinger. There was entertainment provided by Kristie Danzo who played the piano piece, "Forever in Love" and by Ben Mizer who sang the song, "The Impossible Dream". Trent Troyer, president of the Kiwanis Club presented the pins and cards. After the introduction of the new members, there was book signing for all the new members and then a pledge of membership. All of the new inductees took this pledge very honorably. There was an induction of thirty-three new members. There were ten new seniors, and twenty-three juniors. These new members were added to the twenty-one current members. Following the ceremony all the members gathered in the cafeteria for cookies and punch.

Holding offices this year were;

President Scott Flickinger, Vice President Aaron Markworth, Treasurer Nevin Colvin, and Secretary Christie Airgood. There were four main points of the induction ceremony, which were all elaborated on by the current members of the National Honors Society. These four points were scholarship, character, service, and leadership. All of the new inductees studied hard and made the grade.

Following the ceremony juniors Heather Johnson, Traci Harris, Holly Glazer, and seniors Erica Stingel and Carrie Coutts pose for a picture.

After being inducted a group of new members smile for the camera.

A Rewarding Experience

Students and parents felt proud after all the awards and scholarships were given.

Every year at the awards banquet teachers are given the opportunity to reward the work of their students. The banquet started off with a welcome from the National Honor Society president, Scott Flickinger. The program continued with principal Mr. Herchik announcing the various classroom achievement awards. This gave each teacher the chance to commend their finest student's work. The perfect attendance award was given next. Then the National Honor Society members were recognized. Then the academic letter awards were given out followed by honors proficiency test recognition. The president's award for academic excellence was awarded to 27 seniors by Mr. Herchik. Honors diplomas, National Merit Scholars and the Valedictorian and Salutatorians were announced. Ben Mizer received the honor of valedictorian while Erin Newburn and Megan Seibold earned the honor of salutatorian. The closing remarks came from Mr. Herchick.

Senior Jason Smith, is presented with the Brian Kinsey Memorial Scholarship by the Kinsey family.

Seniors Christie Airgood and Molly McAfee look on as others receive their awards.

Seniors Jonathan Gerber and Aaron Gibbs smile over their award.

Mr. Reidenbach presents Jim Crandall with a World History achievement award.

After working to make "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" a big success, the cast had to ...

Take A Bow

The N.P.H.S. drama club put on their production of "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" for this year's play. The play ran for three nights and was a huge success. The cast was composed of Ben Mizer as Charlie Brown, Derek Jones as Snoopy, Kelly Williams as Lucy, Aaron Markworth as Linus, Mike Davis as Schoeder, and Stephanie Gross as Peppermint Patty. Many other seniors, as well as juniors, sophomores, and freshmen helped prepare for the opening of the play. They worked as stage hands and to make props. All of their hard work made the play something the cast and school could be proud of.

Good Luck Class of '95

True Talent

The Fine Arts Festival pulled together a variety of artistic techniques and individual styles.

The Fine Arts Festival was a time to display the hard work of the students and teachers in the art department of NPHS. The preparation had begun early in the year. The first year students learned the basics to preparing a drawing they could be proud of, while the more advanced students worked all year to show off their individual styles.

The senior students especially worked hard to prepare a display they could be proud of. Along with the students, Mr. Sweitzer and Mrs. Hornbrook also worked throughout the entire day to prepare for the show. The Festival was a success as it was attended by many members of the community.

After hanging up his acrylic painting, advanced art Dave Sampsel stands proudly beside his work.

One of the works displayed by advanced art student senior Erin Newburn was this colored pencil portrait.

This rose was displayed by senior Jessica Bair, who was in the advanced art class.

Juniors Michelle Duncan and Michelle DeCoursey displayed their artwork from Fundamentals of Drawing.

This colored pencil portrait was displayed by senior advanced art student Stephanie Fenton.

Exchange student Lenka Mularcikova, a member of the advance class displayed this portrait of a family, along with many other works at the Festival.

This symbolic project was part of senior Brian Proctor's advanced art display.

Advanced art student junior Zac Tischbein displayed this pencil drawing in the Festival.

Traci Harris and Shanda Burger are working on the pharaoh head.

Putting the final screws to the bridge is Nicole Neiheisel.

Ryan Catola is drilling holes in the poles that form the stairs.

The Night Before the Nile

After all the hard work was done, the juniors breathed a sigh of relief.

Decorating for prom took a lot of planning and organizing. Many meetings were held to prepare for the prom. The juniors began organizing the prom in January. While decorating the week before prom, the junior class worked hard to pull everything through. Selected students were chosen to get out of class on Friday, May 5. They decorated all day until midnight. They worked with the theme "An Evening on the Nile."

With new class advisers in the 1994-95 school year, they had a different point of view of ideas. There was a lot of extra help donated by the students' parents.

All of the committees had different jobs. The ceiling committee put up the streamers. The pharaoh head and the sphinx were built by the wall committee. The floor committee built a bridge which was used to walk over the river. The entrance was built so that it seemed as when the students walked in they were walking in through a pyramid. The juniors worked hard with one another to build a beautiful prom.

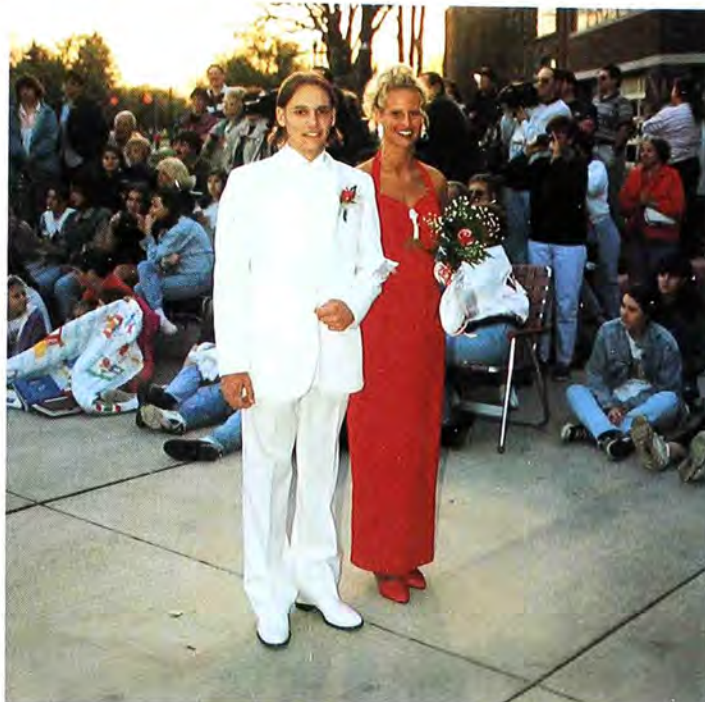

Attaching the leaves to the palm trees are Jonalee Horsfall and Amy Guida.

Cori McKeever and Jason Hoy stop for a picture.

Stopping on their way into the Prom are juniors Abbey Johnson and Clay Peoples.

Josh Glass and Stephanie Fenton walk into the prom.

Crystal Drescher and Derek Brick anticipate entering the Prom.

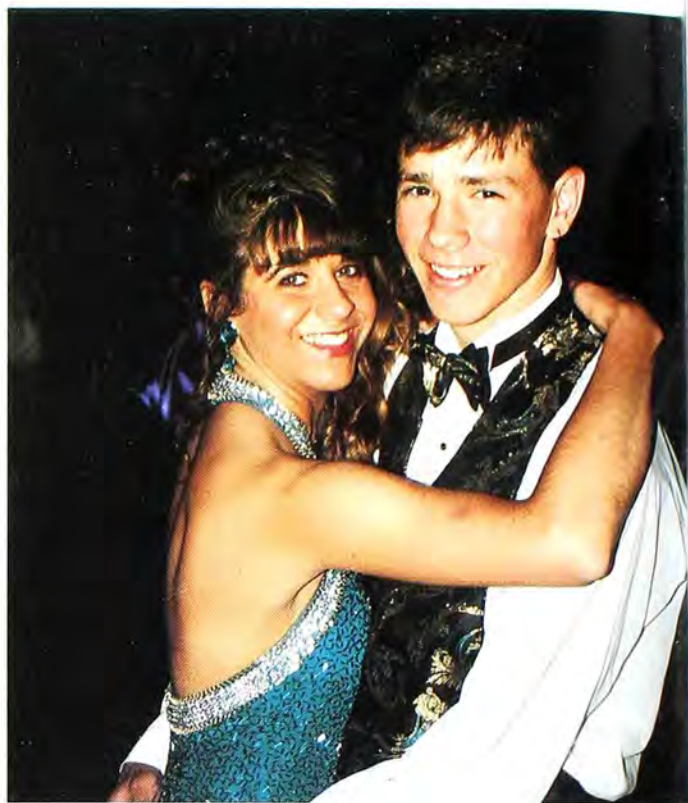

Doug Canfield and Season Cole stop under the canopy.

Making their way into the Prom are Jessica Evans and Josh Mauge.

Elegant Egypt

Camels, pyramids, and sphinxes created "An Evening on the Nile"

On Saturday, May 6th, juniors and seniors, along with their dates and friends, joined together for Prom. A highlight of the evening was the crowning of Marcie Mangon as Prom Queen, and Randy Noah as Prom King. Couples danced the night away to the music provided by Nightengale.

Marcie Mangon and Randy Noah pose for their pictures after being crowned.

Stacy Hoy and Matt Goodall stop on the bridge.

Enjoying a slow song are Carrie Coutts and Ben Mizer.

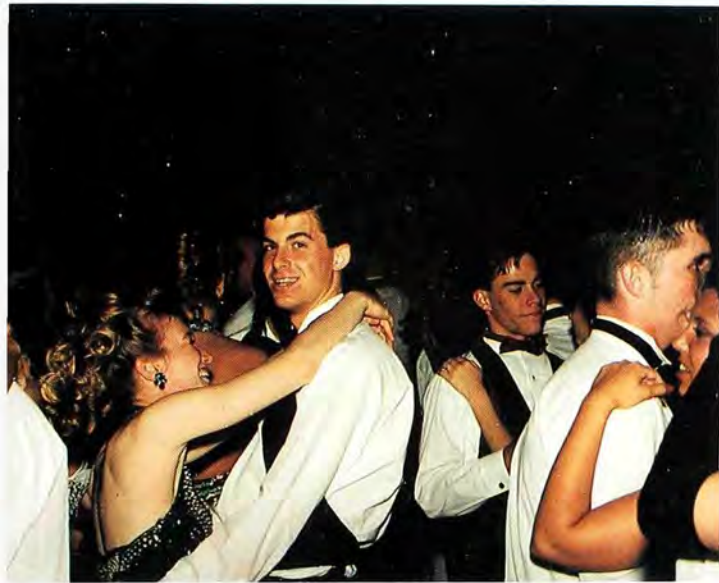

Two juniors sit to talk while taking a break from dancing.

Lori Gerber and Wes Halter are all smiles during a slow song.

Dancing to the music are Gretchen Ricklic and Brian Wherley.

Seniors wait to see who will be crowned king and queen.

Coming in the entrance are Erin Newburn and Jeremy Jenkins.

Couples await the announcement of the king and queen.

The servers show off their Egyptian attire.

Playing pool at the Skate Place is Dan Joseph.

Marissa Kilpartrick takes a time out from playing pool.

Getting on his skates is Mr. Reidenbach.

Eric Dalpaiz and Holly Glazer enjoy Post Prom.

Christie Airgood gets ready to skate.

Anne Geib and Devan Corwin smile at the Skate Place.

1994-95 finally came to an end with many memorable moments. Moments such as the triumph over our rival Dover at the annual Dover Phila football game was one of those moments. Another came later in the year when the Quakers upset the Tornadoes in the basketball tournaments. As we looked back we found not only happy moments but some sad ones as well. Those moments when our athletic leaders; head football coach Phil Mauro and basketball coach Tony Bisutti, announced their decision to move on.

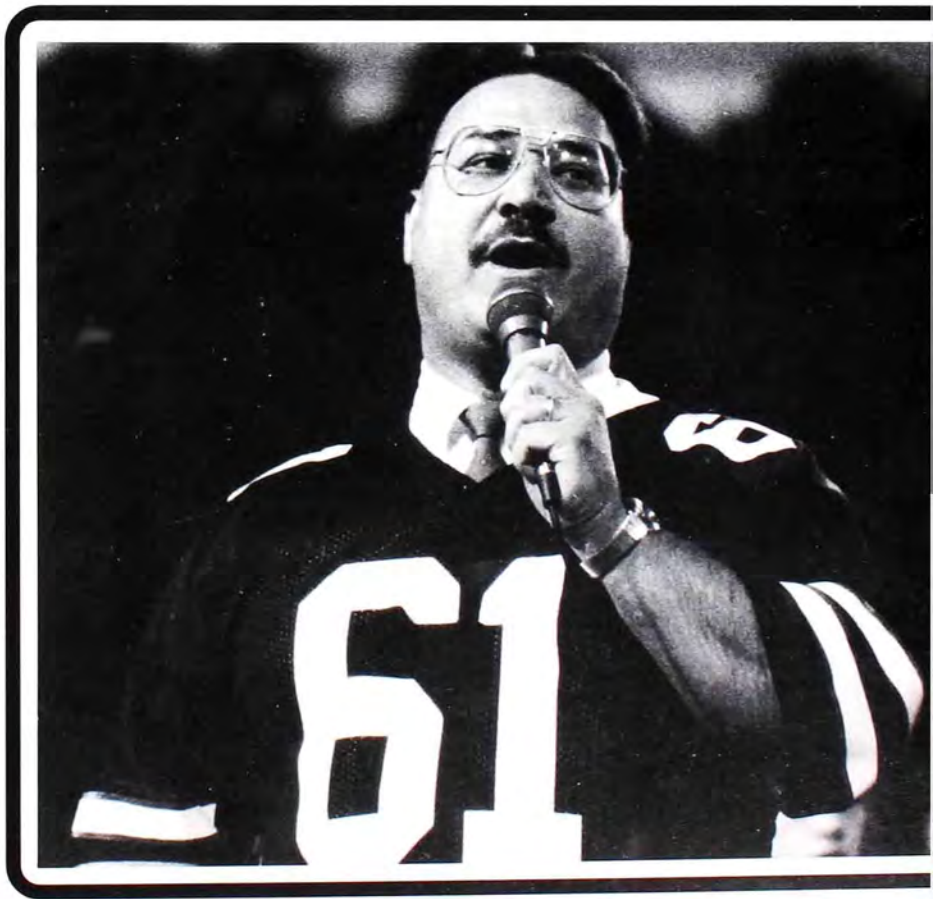

Look This Way

Glancing Back

1995 The Way We Looked

Another member of the New Philadelphia staff to move on was Principal Mike Herchik.

These fine men had brought success to our school giving us three strong leaders to look up to. Mr. Mauro and Mr. Bisutti had winning attitudes which resulted in very successful football and basketball seasons. Mr. Herchik donated his efforts toward enforcing a solid school policy and making sure the Renaissance program got off the ground. Their absence will leave the remaining students full of uncertainty in their remaining high school career. All they can do is reflect on what their 1995 school year was like and hope for the best. Success wasn't only found on the athletic field for the class of 1995 they also had a rewarding academic year as well. The Academic Challenge Team was League Champions and many of the members of the class were awarded academic honors and scholarships. Over the last four years the class has endured trying times which tested their character and joyous times in which they celebrated together. One can only hope that everyone has left this year behind instilled with the knowledge that will help them succeed in the future in such a way that they will still continue to look their way.
