One & Only

In a shrinking world brought closer and closer together via the internet, satellites, and all of the other components of the information age it would have been easy for a town or a school to begin to lose its identity, to melt into the surrounding communities and lose its traditions and history. Although that kind of thing was happening around us everyday there was something unique about being a "Quaker". As students at New Philadelphia High School we always looked towards the future, but never forgot our heritage. And though there are many schools with many stories, this is ours, and it is uniquely ours. For, no matter what the future holds we will have, for a brief few years, shared in common with our fellow students the pride in being the New Philadelphia Quakers.

QUAKER LIFE

FROM THE MUNDANE TO THE BIZARRE AND EVERYTHING IN-BETWEEN QUAKER LIFE IS NEVER THE SAME AND IT IS NEVER BORING.

WHEN THE BELL TOLLS

*After a summer of sleeping in ,
Reality finally hits.*

Whether you were the type of person who looked forward to starting a new year of school or someone who thought school was monotonous drudgery, you knew that your alarm clock was going to go off at 6:00 a.m. Some people broke out their new attire, while others wore their same old, same old. Don't forget about the attitudes that circulated around. Some looked forward to the new exciting opportunities that lay ahead, while others dwelled on past memories of summer.

KICKIN IT UP

The fair once again turned out to be a blast! - junior Jen Reed

The Tuscarawas County Fair "kicked off" on Mon., Sept. 18-24. It gave the New Phila students something different to look forward to instead of the normal movie or football game. Many people went with friends to taste the one of a kind food, ride some rides, and generally let off some steam from the strenuous school day. Junior Fairboard members worked hard on running shows and keeping things cleaned up all week while other 4-H members showed and took care of their animals. One highlight of the week was the Junior fair king and queen contest. Seniors Chris Burky, Jen Degen, and Josh Brandt were among the contestants. On Saturday night Neil McCoy a well known country music artist put on what was said to be the best concert in fair history.

OPERATION LIGHT ETERNAL

Marching Quakers honor World War II Veterans.

Operation Light Eternal was by far the most complicated band show the Marching Quakers have put on. The show was about four chaplains from different religions, one Catholic, one Jewish, and two from the Protestant religion who boarded the U S A T Dorchester bound for Greenland, but half way there a German U-boat sunk the Dorchester. As the ship slowly sank beneath the oily and icy water the chaplains worked to calm the soldiers when they noticed four soldiers huddled in a corner without life jackets. Quickly they took off their own and selflessly handed them to the soldiers. The stern rose high out of the water, and in the end there were no more outcries, no panic, just words of prayer in Latin, Hebrew, and English addressed to the same God.

PLAYING AROUND

Marching Quakers head to Georgia.

This year the marching season started out at the Louisville Field Competition. There the Marching Quakers received a superior rating which immediately qualified them for state finals. Also, awards for Best Percussion, Best General Effect, 2nd Place Field Commanders, and 2nd Place Class AA were awarded.

On September 23rd the Quakers were on the road again. The Westerville North Field Competition was their destination. There they were awarded Best Color Guard overall and 2nd Place in class AA. The Marching Quakers really proved their excellence at the Meadow Brook Field Competition. They received a Superior rating in Class AA. and awarded Grand Champion. Next came Watkins Memorial. The band received a superior rating and other fine awards. The climax of the season was Atlanta Georgia, where the band competed in the Bands of America South-Eastern Regionals. The Marching Quakers appeared in the Georgia Dome to earn an "excellent" rating in Class AA. The marching season ended at Cooper Stadium at the O.M.E.A. State Marching Band Finals. A Superior rating in Class AA was earned. That's the year in review for the Marching Quakers.

A BATTLE LOST

As a team we played hard, but we took some tough breaks that turned the game around.

-Senior Roy Beach

On October 13, 1995, the Perry Panthers visited Quaker Stadium. The game was kicked off by the Alumni Delphian Chorale singing the Alma Mater. During halftime the Homecoming Court was presented. The attendants were:

freshmen, Julie Abuhl and Brooke Lamb, sophomores, Stefanie Sulzener and Stacie Beitzel, juniors, Carrie Newell and Andrea Phillips and seniors, Brie Sexton, Tracy Quicksall and Cori McKeever. Tracy Quicksall was crowned Homecoming Queen. The second half of the game was hard on New Phila. Unfortunately when Perry departed from Quaker Stadium the score left on the board was New Phila 7 and Perry 34. This was a hard played game that ended as a battle lost.

KISS FROM A ROSE

This year the dance was exciting and the new D.J. made it interesting.

-Senior Devan Corwin

The 1995-96 Homecoming dance was held on October 14, 1995 in the High School Gymnasium, from 8pm till 11:30 pm. Student Council chose the theme to be "A Kiss from a Rose". This was a hit song from the band "Seal". Student Council also brought in a new D.J. It was a company called "Wild Video Dance Party". This D.J. made the dance different from any other. There was a giant video screen at one end of the gym and there were laser lights everywhere. The gym was decorated in roses and lips and each couple had a souvenir to take home. The dance was enjoyed by everyone, but it came and went like "A Kiss from a Rose".

WAR AND PEACE

Many precautions were taken but I don't think they were necessary.

- senior Dan Flanagan

It was time once again for the legendary, Dover - New Phila football game. Students were looking forward to the "war" with Dover. To the students amazement, the two schools decided to set up some rules for the rivalry. Phila students were not allowed to cross the city limit and neither was Dover. The section in between Taco Bell and

Burger King was known as the DMZ (de-militarized zone.) Police were waiting to catch any student in that area without a good excuse. At lunch two NPHS teachers were at Dover High School to identify the cars of Phila students and two Dover teachers were here to do the same. Perhaps the biggest change was not being allowed to burn the Dover flag at the bon fire. Most students didn't understand why, after all it was tradition. There were a few minor mishaps with people getting their cars egged or their flags stolen, but over all the week seemed to go fine with little trouble. The "war" was still on between the two schools, but this year we added "peace."

friend and came to school as twins. And on Friday, students wore the traditional red and black to show support for the game that night.

HEART- BREAKING LOSS

It was a hard fought game, but unfortunately we didn't come out on top. - junior Ryan Adkins

The traditional Dover/Phila football game is the most talked about and most memorable game of the entire season. Quaker fans were pumped as they entered the stadium for the game that night at Dover and left with a heartbreaking loss. The Dover Tornadoes beat us with a score of 14-0. The New Phila Quakers finished the season with a 3-7 record.

SEEING DOUBLE

"The Sweater Hop was a time to get together with friends from Phila and other schools and have a good time."

-Sophomore John Hawkins

The Sweater Hop, held on November 22, brought together students from schools all over Tuscarawas county. The annual dance, put together by the Tri-Hi-Y group, was held at the YMCA. Many NPHS students went, with dates both from NPHS and from other schools or just with a group of friends. The music was provided by Nightengale for the couples, who dressed in matching T-shirts, sweaters, and sweatshirts. The pictures were taken by McBride's Studio.

CHRISTMAS

95

It was cold outside but the songs of Christmas warmed the heart.

The Christmas parade was a great success once again. The weather was cold but the sun was out. It was the perfect way to kick off the Holiday season.

The New Philadelphia band lead the way with their music and Christmas attire and the Delphian Choral sang a variety of Christmas carols. Many other students walked or rode in the parade with different organizations such as 4-H. 95 turned out to be a great year for our annual Christmas parade!

A CHRISTMAS TRADITION

Sounds and sights of the season

On the cold w i n d y evening of December 16th, The annual Christmas Concert was held at the First Baptist Church in New Phila. The vocal majority included selections from the Bel Canto Choir, Concert Choir, Ladies Ensemble and Delphian Chorale. The Delphian Chorale accompanied the vibrant voice of guest vocalist Mrs. Melody Liberatore.

The music majority played selections from the Canadian Brass while the freshmen percussion played a toe tapping number for the audience's pleasure. But the audience's favorite selection of the evening was presented by the Delphian Chorale titled "Yulelog on Uncle John." This song brought laughter to all ages and kicked off a great holiday season.

THE QUAKERS HAD A HARD TIME . .

Putting It In

The 1995 golf team was made up of two seniors, four juniors, five sophomores, and three freshmen. Leading the pack were John Paul Phillips and Brian Mechelke with scores usually in the low 40's. The teams season record ended 2-14.

The team started to practice in early August, at the Green Valley golf course. All home games were also played at Green Valley. The Quaker golf team had a new coach this year, Mr. Phil Tidrick, who also coaches J.V. basketball and is head baseball coach.

The Quaker's beat all of their federal league opponents twice except Jackson and Hoover. They also beat arch-rival Dover twice, 4-1 and 5-0. Playing number one singles this year was Monica Furniss, who also received the MVP award for the team. Number two singles was played by Marcie Quicksall, while number three was played by Holly May. The first doubles team of Brooke Kenline and Jen Roth received the award for best record. While the number two doubles team of Katie Lorenzoni and Kristen Matter received most improved. Reserve team members were Angie Evans, Tina Mohn, Annie Sutek, and Lindsay Hawkins. "This season brought a lot of great things that we will remember for a long time." commented Annie Sutek.

On the Line

This season the New Philadelphia varsity volleyball team had a tough season finishing with a disappointing record of 6-15. This experienced team with five seniors, Jen Lee, Tracie Harris, Amy Guida, Shanda Burger, and Lisa Hykes, faced a difficult Federal league schedule. The team also had a big win over Dover early in the season defeating the Tornadoes 3-1. During sectional tournaments the Quakers won the first match over Zanesville beating them 15-6 and 15-7 for a 2-0 decision. "I was proud of all the girls this year, because they showed a great deal of determination and improved tremendously throughout the season. MORE THAN JUST REBUILDING THE YOUNG RUNNERS SPENT THEIR SEASON...

UNDER CONSTRUCTION

The 1995 Boys Cross Country team had a disappointing season with no dual meet wins. They entered the season a young team that had a lot of untested ability. Under the direction of veteran coach Mr. Kreinbihl the Quakers worked all season to improve on their individual times. Running in all kinds of weather and putting in lots of miles on the roads the team prepared themselves for another season yet to come. The Cross Country team was led by junior Ryan Yoss.

WITH ONLY FIVE SENIORS TO LEAD THE TEAM, THE QUAKERS HAD A ...

Tough Season

The Quaker football team had fewer victories than they had hoped for. Having a young team, and a season plagued with injuries the Quakers finished with a record of 3-7. Led by first year head coach Claude Brown, they defeated Federal League foes Alliance and Wooster, but lost a heart breaker to their arch rival, Dover. The leading rushers for the team were junior J.J. Brindel with 925 yards, and sophomore Cie Grant, with 655 yards. Leading the team in tackles were senior Brock Knisely with 84, and junior Mike Phillips with 66. The players were honored at the annual football banquet on November 21. Brock Knisely received the Bill Kidd Memorial award and also received the Outstanding Defensive Player. Allen Compher also was awarded an Outstanding Defensive Player award. Compher also received the Hard Nose Award. Recipients of the Outstanding Offensive Player award were J.J. Brindel and Cie Grant. Pete Sweitzer was the receiver of the Scout Team Player of the Year award.

FRESHMEN AND JV PLAYERS WORK HARD ALL YEAR FOR

IMPROVING SKILLS

Winning is nice, but the main purpose for the JV and Freshmen teams was to improve their skills. Saturday mornings and Thursday afternoons were just testing grounds for young men who were preparing for Friday nights under the lights. The New Philadelphia reserve football team ended their 95 season with a record of 2-7. The team had big wins over Glen Oak and Alliance. The team was led by defensive coach Brian Reidenbach and offensive coach Scott Golec. Over the season the reserve team continued to show improvement of skills and team work. The highlight for the freshmen, who ended their season 4-4-1, was beating both Claymont and Dover.

DEDICATION AND HARD WORK PAID OFF FOR THE

Silver Streaks

The Swim Team's hard work and dedication reaped rich rewards for our school. Our team spent many hours at the New Philadelphia YMCA practicing for their meets. Those many hours spent led to fine results for their season. Coach Wherley pushed her girls to do their very best performances. The swim team worked long and hard to live up to their high standard of excellence. VARSITY GIRLS WIN WITH ...

Team Work

The Seniors and Underclassmen bonded exceptionally well which helped the Lady Quakers win in the always tough Federal League. The team motto was "It's amazing how much can be accomplished if no one cares who gets the credit." The team had many outstanding victories, one of which was beating arch rival Claymont in overtime. Other outstanding games for the Lady Quakers were Beating Lake, Coshocton, and a big win at Perry. Two disappointing losses for the Lady Quakers were Jackson in overtime and losing to Hoover by two points. The team captains leadership was extremely instrumental to a successful season. The team's four captains were Crystal Drescher, Devan Corwin, Jennifer Lee and Traci Harris.

man team also had a tough season. Even though they had a rough year they played hard and are ready to return with more determination than ever. Lauren Harris led the Lady Quakers in scoring, averaging 3.5 points per game. Jen Owens and Lauren Harris were the top rebounders, and Jen Bruster led the Lady Quakers in assists and steals. Although both teams had a difficult season neither team ever gave up playing.

THE RESERVES PREPARED THEMSELVES FOR FUTURE PLAY WITH THE VARSITY BY...

Rounding First

With six returning players, the J.V. softball team ended with a winning season. The team was composed of ten sophomores and five freshmen. The season started off with a win against Dover eighteen to three, and a loss in the show to Perry zero to three. The young Quakers spent a lot of time working on their fundamentals in preparation for varsity play. They lived up to their motto for the season "Bringing out the sticks in '96", which was evident by the number of runs they produced in winning and losing efforts. Throughout the season the team improved in every aspect. Pitchers Michelle Robinson and Sam Glass both became faster and more accurate as the season progressed. With many more away games than home games, the Quakers faced numerous strong teams to rally over.

ALTHOUGH IT WAS A LONG SEASON, THE VARSITY GAVE IT THEIR BEST WHEN THEY WERE....

Up to Bat

The 1995-96 Varsity Baseball team ended with a 13-13 record. The weather played a factor in their performance. It was a very cold and wet spring which caused practices to be held in the gymnasium. The weather also caused many games to be canceled and then rescheduled. This didn't give the players a chance to get used to the feel of the field. Also the inside practices didn't give the younger players a chance to be familiar with the plays. The top hitter was Aaron Wallace. He had 23 hits with a .404 batting average. Neil Stein added 4 home runs. Nick Gross was the top pitcher with 27 strike out's and he also had the most RBI's totaling 21.

Leading off second base is junior Shane Buckhor.

"Away games were tough this year, yet we always managed to have fun on the bus rides home."

FREE...AT LAST

After twelve long years the class of 96 was finally liberated.

The Class of 1996 was a very diverse one. A class that started 300 strong had dwindled down to about 204. We, as a class, were somewhat of an experimental class. We were exposed to new teachers, new principals and new coaches frequently throughout our high school career. When asked to give a quote about her senior year, Chris Burky was glad "to finally see the light at the end of the tunnel." Zac Tischbein had some words of inspiration when he was quoted as saying "I'm glad it's over but in the future, as I reflect back I'm sure I'll miss it." Our class as a whole struggled to keep up school spirit. Maybe it was because of the lack of senior athletic members. There were only five senior varsity football players and one varsity cheerleader, and the Q.T.'s had fewer seniors than in previous years. Even though their numbers were small, their impact on the school was great. However as a whole the Class of 1996 was one that, like many other classes before it, were very glad to finally be at the end of the road. Sure we'll miss our time here at Phila High but our lives are ahead of us. We will always have our memories of our high school days.

Tracy Quicksall and Brie Sexton take a moment to laugh.

Showing their school spirit are Lisa Hykes and Chad Speedy.

Coasting to the End

Seniors celebrate the end of their high school careers.

As the end of the year approached the seniors took their annual trip to Cedar Point. For many this would be the last chance they would have to see each other. Many of the seniors looked forward to riding Cedar Point's newest feature: The Mantis. They also had their annual picnic and announced the Best and Most list. The seniors enjoyed their time together at Cedar Point.

On the Iron Dragon are GA Wentz, Cono Barbera, Adam Propp, Ryan Catola.

Strolling down the midway at Cedar Point are Jen Miller, Amber Tope, and Jessica Rentsch.

Enjoying the senior banquet are McKenzie Goodrich, Amy Metcalf, Katie Willis, and Steph Vance.

GRADUATION

The Last Impression.

It started off on May 29th when the seniors came to realize that the end had finally come! Graduation practice was held at the park and was followed with pizza and pop. It was the final bonding time for the class of 96. Four days later the seniors showed up at the High School in their red and black caps and gowns. Due to a constant rain graduation was held in the gymnasium. The Graduation Exercises were held on Sunday, June 2 at 3:30 P.M.. The 96 Valedictorian was Chris Burky and Salutatorian was Emily Anderson.

Shanda Burger and Matt Braucher wait in the Auditorium.

Eager for Graduation are Steve Atwood and Jen Miller.

Eric Dalpiaz and Holly Glazer standing on the shores of Lake Erie.

Crashing into Michelle DeCourcy is Carrie Bleininger.

Heather Johnson and Jonathan Jones looking for a bigger coaster.

Walking past the Gemini are Tyler Stratton, Dave Sampsel, Clay Peoples, Nick Gross, Susan Fowles, and Erin Perks.

Dominating Class

Zach Espenschied laughs with his friends at the community pep rally.

Athletic prowess abounds in the Junior ranks.

Some classes have an inordinate amount of scholars and some may have a greater number of musicians or artists, and some like this years Junior class, seem to be blessed with an abundance of gifted athletes. On the football team the Quakers suited up 26 Juniors accounting for almost half of the entire roster. On the basketball court the Quakers were led by Junior stand-out J.D. Thompson. Ryan Yoss and Camille Cardani could be seen running all over town leading the track and cross country teams. Anne Geib in Volleyball and Lindsay Fenton on the girls BB team along with many other juniors showed their athletic abilities throughout the 1995-96 seasons.

Anticipation

Three years down and one to go!

Most students coming into their junior year have a huge sense of "anticipation". They're more than half way through their high school years and can't wait to move on to bigger and better things after they graduate. Even though a lot of juniors can't wait to move on they're still trying to figure out what they want to do with the rest of their lives. It's a hard decision and once it's thought to have been made it changes the next week, and every week after that. To sum it up, the junior year is full of tough decisions and trying to find oneself.

Future Anxiety

The SATs and ACTs are an important factor in a college bound student's journey to success.

Tests in high school are often anxiety provoking. It seems that there is always a test that you must study for. Many times the test has a great bearing on the grade you will receive in class. If you do poorly on one test it won't ruin your academic career. But on the other hand the ACTs and SATs are a different story. These two tests can determine the type of college a student is accepted to in the future.

MONKEYS IN THE MIDDLE

Somewhere between the top & bottom.

1 996 was an exciting, but tough year for the class of '98. No longer were we the little freshmen. In our eyes we were the big and mighty sophomores. One drawback was that the homework increased and the difficult level soared. Between late night studying and three hour practices, there was no time to goof off. Although we liked being sophomores, we looked forward to being juniors.... upper-classmen. One year closer to freedom. But for now we are the ones in the middle.

Working World

When they turn 16 many students begin to look for extra income.

At the age of about 16 many students begin to look for a summer or after school job. Although, many students had begun their dip into the work world earlier the sophomore year was the turning point between summers off and summers of work. Most sophomores decided they could use a little extra cash for clothes or for the ultimate purchase-a car. The most popular places for work were fast food restaurants and Tuscora Park.

A TOUCH OF CLASS

FRESHMAN CONTRIBUTE

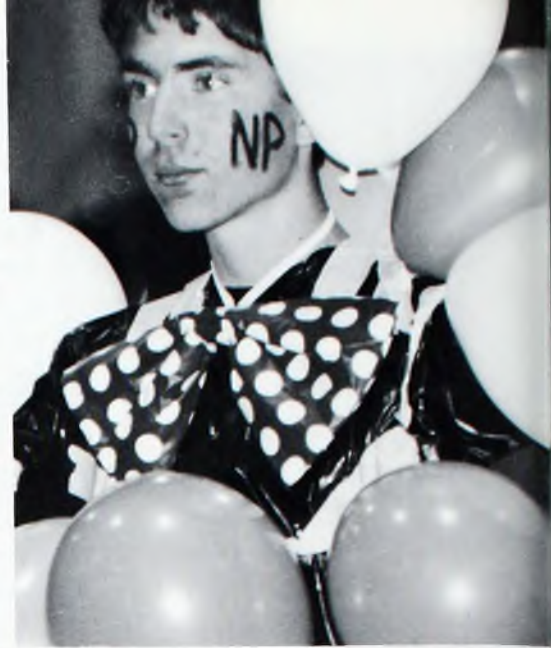

Every Freshman helped contribute to the class in their own special way. The Freshman class had good athletes, scholars, and many who strived to maintain their excellence by achieving their goals. There were a great deal of students who are gifted in the arts, such as choir, band, and those who had a natural talent for drawing and painting. Many contributed their opinions and views on certain class and school issues to benefit the school. The class officers contributed their time and efforts to help fund-raisers which gather much needed money for later events such as the prom and graduation.

Starting over again...

It seems that just when we had the hang of how things worked in the middle school we were bumped up to the high school.

New rules, new teachers, and a totally new environment met us the first day. After the first few days most of us became accustomed to our surroundings and found out that high school really wasn't that bad. We began to realize that life was full of changes and adaptations. Some of the class of '99 will look back on that first year as a horror, and others will remember it as a time when the doors to the future opened.

QUAKER QUALITY

NO MATTER WHAT THE AREA OF INTEREST, SCHOOL OFFERS EVERYONE SOMETHING AND SOMEWHERE TO EXCEL.

Big Chance

Some freshman get the chance to play on varsity teams and receive a letter.

Although, there are specific freshman teams for many sports like football and basketball some sports like track and golf offered freshmen the opportunity to compete for varsity letters. Even in sports that had freshmen teams if an athlete was good enough they often had a chance to play varsity or reserve. Brooke Lamb received her first letter as a freshman starter on the varsity girls basketball team. Many other freshmen had opportunities in their individual sport.

A Place of Honor

Teachers & Students get recognized every month.

A new principal brings new ideas. One of the exciting changes made by Mr. Oliver at the high school was the awarding of the teacher, student, and professional staff member of the month. Each student, teacher, or professional staff member received recognition from their peers, a pin and a certificate. It may have not been a major change but most people thought it was nice to recognize students and teachers who do a little extra around the building.

A Learning Experience

Teachers Keep Teaching and Students Keep Learning

With the changing of principals and the departure of Mr. Smith the staff has learned to deal with the ever changing High School. With all of these distractions the teachers were able to do their job and continue as usual. Also with many snow days the teachers lesson plans were not followed as planned. Through all of this the teachers at New Phila High School remained a constant for the 95-96 school year.

Rising to the Top!

Phila students at their best!

The students at New Philadelphia High School worked hard to be able to receive the grades that their parents and their community would be proud of. Many students spent their free periods studying or working on other academic related projects. Although the willingness to learn is not the only motivation for the students themselves. The teachers are the ones who motivated the students through their understanding and support. The teachers realized that their jobs were to educate and try to expand the minds of their students. So the academics here at New Philadelphia High School served to enrich and prepare the students for life.

Teamwork

The Academic team showed great teamwork this season.

With a record of 8-3 in the Tri-county league the Academic challenge finished strong. Led by co-captains Erica Barnhill and Andy Francis the Quakers placed 4th in their league. The Quakers suffered losses only to Jackson, North Canton, and Perry. The Academic challenge team also won the county meet for the second straight year.

Tapping Into Success

National Honor Society celebrates scholarship, character, service, and leadership.

In spring students had the opportunity to apply to become members of National Honor Society. The first hurdle in becoming a member was having the required grade point average. Those students who maintained high enough marks were then judged by the entire faculty based on their character, leadership, and service. Only the very top students became members of the National Honor Society.

The highlight for prospective members was the day that they were chosen. A long standing tradition of tapping was the method used by the NHS. Students who were already members of NHS went to the classrooms of the newly chosen members and tapped them and handed them a rose signifying that they had been chosen to become members of the National Honor Society. On Tuesday, April 30, induction ceremonies were held for the new members.

Celebration of Success

Students, parents, and teachers gathered together as N.P.H.S.'s finest were honored for academic achievements.

The annual academic awards banquet gives teachers the chance to recognize the superior efforts of their top students. Held at Buckeye Career Center, the night began with a welcome from Christine Burky, the president of National Honor Society. Mr. Oliver announced each teacher and gave them the opportunity to give awards for classroom achievements. Academic letters, scholarships, and perfect attendance awards and honors diplomas were announced. At the end of the evening Christine Burky was given the honor of Valedictorian while Emily Anderson received the Salutatorian honor.

The Transition

Going from NHPS to Buckeye was a piece of cake.

Some students thought the transition from NPHS to Buckeye would be hard, leaving all of their friends, going to a new school, and getting used to all of the unfamiliar faces. Students left all of their old friends behind but, soon realized they would make multiple new friends. Students there adjusted to the much larger school, even though it took some time. "Leaving all my friends and my girlfriend was hard but I got used to it, plus the classes are great here." - Junior

The cheerleaders are the center of spirit. Their catchy cheers, their keen smiles, and their wild spirit make the games very meaningful. The head cheerleader makes the call and they start their "We Are #1" cheer. The crowd's enthusiasm rises with each clap of their hands. They are the girls that never give up on the team even when the odds are against them. The Varsity team is unique because of the 1 senior and 7 juniors. These girls start early in the summer practicing their cheers to the point of perfection. They are synchronized, every movement is the same. That is what makes them so important and special to the game.

This year the Music Department decided to have two different winter lines. The first line was Kaliedoscope it was a winterguard made up of twenty-two sophomores, juniors, and seniors. Their performance show was created by the girl's themselves and consisted of dance, flags, and rifle technique. The other line was Flag Line, they were made up of freshman, sophomores, and juniors. Their show consisted of various flag work as well as technique. The Kaliedoscope and Flag Line started their season off in November. The five months of hard work and perserverance was worth it. The Kaliedoscope advanced to finals and ended with second place at WGI. The Flag Line ended with second place prelim finish.

The diversity of dancing.

The QT's started the squad's year by attending the UDA camp at Oberlin College. The squad received first place in Pom category and ended with a superior trophy. At the camp captain Brie Sexton and Elise Fette were chosen for an all star position to dance in London, England Dec.26-Jan.2. The squad was also chosen to travel to nationals in Florida Feb. 2-5 where they placed 23rd. Through all this excitement, the girls were able to dance at area football and basketball games and ended with a fantastic year.

Spoon Rhythm

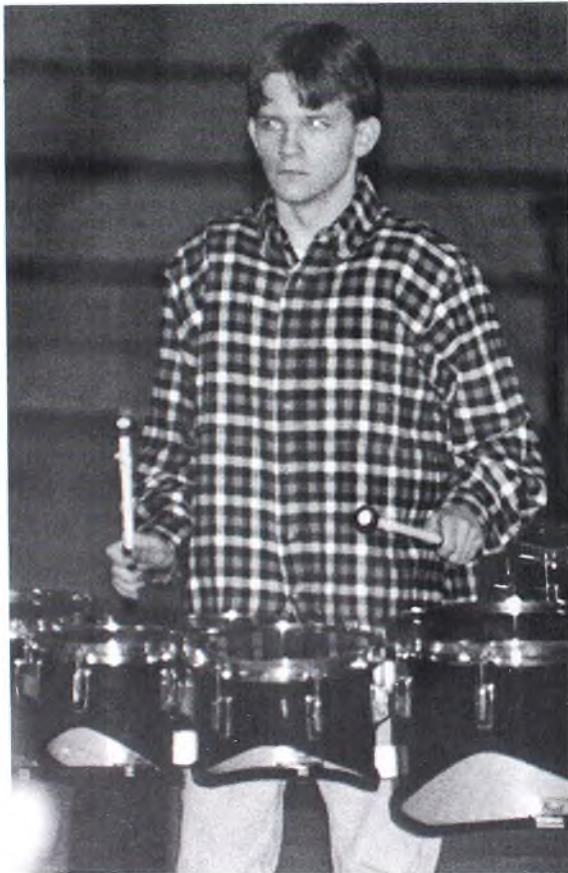

The 1995-96 Winter Drumline choose a less traditional style.

The 1995-96 Winter Drumline chose a different style this past year. The Drumline took the floor in blue jeans and flannels. The song that was chosen to be performed was "Spoonman" by Soundgarden. The Pitt and Battery were properly equipped with spoons. This gave everyone an opportunity to be creative. The Winter Drumline competed at three school competitions and one regional. The Drumline received two first places and one second. They also competed at the W.G.I. Mid-East Regional held in Dayton, Ohio. In addition to competitions, the Winter Drumline performed at the Music Marathon and the Collage Concert. The Drumline ended their season with the Fine Arts Festival, where they received a standing ovation. It was apparent that this Winter Drumline truly had a "Spoon Rhythm."

Personal Achievement

... is what the members of the NPHS concert band aimed for.

Concert band changed slightly in format this year. The bands formerly were named junior-senior, freshman-sophomore and were changed by an executive decision by the staff to Symphonic and concert respectively. This change directed the band members minds to evaluate the music content they were capable of playing instead of a division of bands by grade level only. Another reason for the change dealt with grade levels. Some underclassmen had the capability to play harder music. This allowed for sophomores and a few freshmen to join the junior-senior band. This discredited the name of the later band so the change was made.

This year the Symphonic band took great strides in the learning and executing of three intricate pieces of music, Variations of a Korean Folk Song, The Little English Girl and the Inferno. They received an overall rating of II for their efforts. However, senior trumpet player, Jen Shroyer felt, "that the best performance came in from everyone." The concert band played the Nathan Hale Trilogy, Dorchester, and Fantasy on a Fare.

They received a 1 rating. An overall feeling of achievement was felt by all.

A Plethora of Sound

The 95-96 year was filled with many different voices.

The choir was very active this year. Members from each branch of choir seemed to be present at every school function. During the fall and winter season the national anthem was sung by individuals as well as the Delphian Chorale. At the annual Christmas concert all the choirs sang various songs that entertained as well as warmed the hearts of the audience. The hand bells were also present to display their versatile talent in music. The Delphian Chorale, Concert Choir and Ladies Ensemble went to contests to be judged on their singing abilities. In the spring the Delphian Chorale went on a singing tour in Florida. The members went through many fund raisers to raise money for the trip. When asked to comment on her senior year as a Delphian member Angela Williams said, "Chorale has taught me that separately we are many voices with many directions but together we are one voice with a common goal."

The men wait for their cue to sing.

Student Leaders

Selected to be leaders...

The 1995-96 student council members did a lot to better themselves as well as our school. The members of student council were the student body's choice for representation, meaning that the students from our school were able to have an election to decide which student or students would serve on student council. The student council held a variety of fund raisers, including helping with a community blood drive. The members also planned the Dances and our Homecoming. The students who took on the responsibilities as members of our student council had an obligation to be at the many meetings as well as any after school activities. In short the 1995-96 student council members did a fine job as leaders of the student body.

In The Lead

Cori McKeever, Tracy Quicksall, and Brie Sexton were the senior attendants.

Class officers take charge of class matters.

Class officers met once a month to discuss up coming events at our school. They also helped with fundraisers, getting the prom together, and concerts. They put a lot of effort into this school year. The class officers worked hard together and had many fun times, but their jobs were not all fun - n- games.

Once a year during Christmas, the class officers took part in Share - Christmas. They also had many responsibilities as representatives of the student body.

Creative Cause

"Our ability to design and create is what makes the Delphian unique"-Sophomore Emily Kopp

The 16 students involved in the yearbook class sacrificed eighth period each day so that this book that you are holding now could be printed. The stories, pictures, and graphics are attributed to the students, who struggle to make deadlines and often need to put in extra hours after school to perfect their assigned pages. Being on the yearbook staff is far from boring. Along with the hard work and frustration, comes new friendships and fun times. To reward themselves for a job well done, the staff has pizza parties, Christmas exchanges, and lazy days where they goof off and make jokes at the expense of advisor Mr. Pry! The staff performed many duties that resulted in bringing this yearbook to life.

Jen Still and Chris Watts put together the sophomore pages.

No Rest

"There is no summer vacation or time off for members of the yearbook staff."

-advisor Mr. Pry

Planning for the 1996 yearbook actually began in the summer and spring of 1995. Students gathered to plan an ad campaign and a theme for the upcoming yearbook.

Members of the yearbook staff receive no credit for the class from the school. The only thing that a yearbook member receives is the satisfaction of turning out a good book. To that end students spend their summer selling ads (the least favorite part) and the school year laying out pages and writing copies. The staff worked hard to get the job done.

Clubbing It

The French and Science Clubs both contributed to their community.

Freshman B.J. Hothem shows off one of the Science Club recycling boxes that is in each classroom.

Jen Jarrell and Andrea See goof off during a French Club Meeting.

This year the N.P.H.S. French Club helped their community by participating in the Share-A-Christmas. They sponsored a family of four members. They also took a trip to a French bakery in Canton, had a Christmas party and a French Dinner. At Valentines Day they sold Candy-grams. This year's Science Club participated in a recycling program. Both clubs hold monthly meetings.

COLOPHON

This year's staff members were: Advisor Joe Pry, Seniors: Season Cole, Holly Glazer, Dawn Polen, and Jennifer Shroyer; Juniors: Jen Jarrell, Jen Reed, and Steph Staggers; Sophomores: John Hawkins, Beth Judy, Emily Kopp, Jen Still, and Christopher Watts; Freshman: Nathan Douglas and Kenny Kocarek.

The 1996 staff would like to thank Jim Barbour, our Herff Jones Representative, Julie Bogart and Debbie King, our in plant advisors for all their help. We would also like to send special thanks to The Times Reporter and Mitchell's Studio for helping with photographic coverage of the events this school year. Finally, we would like to thank anyone who helped to make "The One And Only" possible, including the faculty and administration at NPHS.

Books were sold at $35.00 with ads, $38.00 - $45.00 before delivery, and $48.00 after delivery. The book was approximately $30,000.00. All operating expenses were met without financial assistance from the school.

"The One and Only" has 204 pages. 52 pages are in color, including spot color. Four of the color pages are in patriot color and tipped into the book. The cover was custom designed. The colors are antique red and flat black and red foil. The end sheets were also custom design and prepared by a professional artist.

Student Life are 10 columns per spread and the headline is Copper Plate, 60 point, Bold, Shadow underline. The subhead is

Dramatic Duo

The Drama Club puts on two plays in one night.

The Drama Club put on two plays for the year. One of them, "Final Dress rehearsal," was about a high school group's last rehearsal of an original production of "Cinderella." Despite their efforts, the cast and crew had numerous problems fulfilling their roles. The dilemmas were surprisingly lifelike. The other play, "Who?", depicted a young man's struggle to find his identity. Not unlike many teens, he seemed to strike out at the people from whom he wanted the most support and acceptance. The people in Zach's life saw him not as he was, but as the person they wanted him to be. The two plays were put on in the same night separated by a brief intermission.

As the authoress, senior Amy Williams explains the play to her cast.

After Zach's death, his friends gather in his memory.

Zach, played by senior Brian Feller, plays the air guitar.

The New Philadelphia Fine Arts Festival was an event where the students take pride in their art and creative talents. Students displayed their art and it came in all varieties, from the abstract of Erik Oreto to the realism of Nick Hizer. To some the art symbolized the artist's thoughts and feelings while others created just for fun. Over all the festival displayed wonderful pieces of fabulous art and beautiful music.

Art wasn't the only thing at the festival their was an array of many different kinds of music which lead to a wonderful evening of cultural experiences.

Senior Clay Peoples displays his brain.

Senior Nick Hizer contrasts colors using flags.

Magic Show

In two days the gym was transformed into the Emerald City.

Putting the gym together in two days was not magic, but hard work. Many students and teachers put a lot of time and effort into completing the job. They decorated the gym to fit the theme, "The Magic of the Emerald City". They used props from the movie "Wizard of Oz." Plans for the decorations began in mid-winter and were completed Friday night prior to prom.

Carrie Newell gets scissors to cut a piece of tape.

Matt Noretto and Matt Ferris finish with the set-up.

Anne Geib reaches over the rail to fix the decorations.

Mike Phillips and J.J. pull buckets apart.

A New Look

Faces change at the top of the ladder.

The school system saw many new faces within the administration in '96. It started with the arrival of a new principal. Coming from Brunswick High School Mr. Oliver had many new and exciting ideas. He continued the Renaissance program and implemented a student and faculty member of the month. The system was also faced with the adventure of trying to find a new superintendent after the departure of Mr. Smith. The schools were privileged to have Mr. Carlisle to step in as interim Superintendent as the search began.

Meanwhile, the board of education changed faces as well. Newly elected members were David Moreland, V. Jane Brown and Don Kemp was appointed. All of these changes certainly gave NPHS a new look.

An Evening in Oz

The Junior Class used their imaginations to create "The Magic of Emerald City."

Shanda Burger is crowned Prom Queen.

The 1996 Prom was held in the high school gymnasium on May 4, 1996. The dance began at 8:00 P.M. and lasted until 11:00 P.M. The music was provided by Nightingale. Erika Petranek and Camille Cardani crowned Shanda Burger as the 1996 Prom Queen. The seniors enjoyed their last Prom in The Emerald City.

Derek Dummermuth, Nicki Blick, Jennifer Tickner, and Travis Fouts take a break from dancing.

Couples await the announcement of queen.

CLOSING

ONE & ONLY CLASS OF 1996

Parting Shots

A group of individuals thrown together by chance and fate who became the class of 1996. Overcoming changes and adversity, challenging their limits of expression. They worked together to make this school year the best it could be. They had many responsibilities to accomplish, and they did. Now we are left to look forward to the experiences of next year. We will try are hardest to make it another year of memorable moments.
