ONE MORE

One more year in the century, one more class, one more opportunity to spend time with my friends. One last game, year, dance etc.....

ONE LESS

It always seems like there was not enough time to get everything done. One less minute between classes, less time to get homework done, less a homeroom, and finally one less year.

More Event

The French class smiles and says, "Oui, Oui!!"

An ecstatic group of Quakers cheer at the Spirit Rally.

Students leaving school after their first day.

Senior Dave Shanabrook watches the football team practice while he recovers from an injury.

Rachel Mattingly waits to give the football players some water.

Hang'in Out

Everyone had a summer place.

Friend's houses, the mall, or even the park were favorite hangouts for the summer. Some of us spent a lot of time at work, while others spent a lot of time avoiding work. One thing we all agreed on was that summer was too short.

Ashlee Canfield and her friends spend time with a lama.

David McCluggage and Mike Steele stand in the long line to a ride.

Showing Off

Student's hard work prevails.

The 1998 Tuscarawas County fair was the place to see it all. From 4-H booths, to carnival stands, to record breaking crowds, there was always something to see. Monday started the week out with the motorcross, then the Band-A-Rama, crowning of the king and queen, and the traditional truck and tractor pull. Sounds of country could be heard around the grounds as crowds gathered to hear Lee Ann Womack and Kevin Sharp perform. As the weekend approached, the midway became the local hang out as the motor madness and yearly square dance took place. Sunday brought on the demolition derby which wrapped up the final hours of the fair. During the entire week 4-H members showed their livestock projects as they enjoyed the rest of the fair.

Juniors Joey Petrullo, Zach Nemeth, Erin Dawson, Steph Williams, Leanne Roth, and Chrissie Zeller hang out on the midway.

Brent Burris, Steve Borga, and Nathan Bowers finish hanging bells for their booth.

Tyler Ellwood, Lora Young, and Dan Burson walk on the midway looking for someone they know.

Senior Chad Aubihl evades Indian Valley defenders.

Ryan Range kicks an extra point as Chad Dorsey holds.

Big Finish

Quakers command second half.

The Quakers had an impressive second half in their 32-14 victory over the Indian Valley Braves at the Homecoming Football game. It was the second year in a row the Quakers won their Homecoming game. Phila was able to put the game away in the second half due to strong showings by Senior quarterback Chad Dorsey and Senior Chad Aubihl. It was the first ever meeting between the Quakers and Indian Valley. The victory capped off the Homecoming festivities observed that night. Senior Julie Abbuhl was crowned as the Homecoming Queen at halftime of the game.

A group of NPHS seniors enjoy the evening.

Kathryn Noonan and her friend cut a rug on the dancefloor.

Tim Weber and Shelley Bonnell enjoy a slow song.

A group of Juniors and Sophomores having fun.

Under the Sea

"Having the dance in the ballroom was a nice change for Homecoming." -Senior Lauren Strawn

The 1998 homecoming dance was held on October third at the Elk's Ballroom rather than the high school's gymnasium. The theme chosen by student council was "Under the Sea". The dance lasted from eight o'clock until eleven o'clock. The disc jockey for the evening was Rich Hanchette. The Homecoming queen was senior and second-time attendant, Julie Abbuhl. Other senior class representatives included Elizabeth Endres and Laura Tolan. The ballroom and entryway were decorated in the colors of the sea with balloons and seashells.

Michelle Abbuhl, Jenn Coniglio, Lora Young, Elizabeth Endres, Julie Abbuhl, Laura Tolan, Christie Graham, Ashlee Canfield, Katie Kinsey.

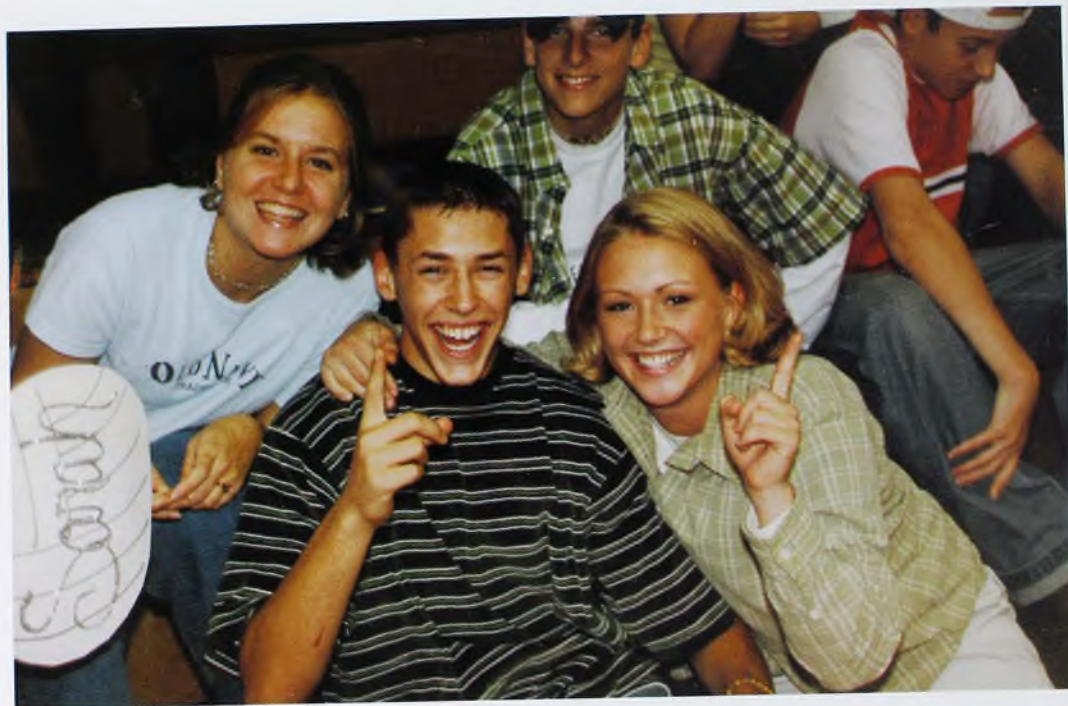

DJ Vanwinkle and Nichole Martini dance to a slow song.

Tiffany Garbrandt and Ryan Anstine enjoy the last song.

Ashley Moreland gets down and dirty at a pep rally.

At the Spirit Rally, Kristen Shanabrook smiles for the Quakers.

Brenna Judy and Ashlee Canfield ditch their dates so they can really have a good time.

Mr. Wherly tells Dave, Meric, and Kenny "Science is great, science is fun, science is for everyone."

Hawaiian sextuplets of Olivia Walker, Ashlee Canfield, April Hildebrand, Jessica Henning, Lindsay Desiato, & Justin Kinsey start the week with an "Aloha!"

Angie Vick & Josh Warrene are dressed to "Hunt the Tornadoes."

Senior Brandi Silverman looks cute as a carebear.

Elizabeth Endres, Micah Sisson, Lucy Polce, & Abigail Erb add some flavor to the halls.

Cassie Adams & Sarah Winn "Double the Power" as Siamese twins.

Sophomores Steph Bair, Alexis Kuhn, & Elizabeth Adams celebrate the week.

Rising Spirit

Everyone is ready for the big game.

As the game approached, the spirit grew throughout the school. Many students participated in the festivities. To start off the week students dressed as twins to "Double the Power." Tuesday's theme had students dressed in camouflage in order to "Hunt the Tornadoes". Everybody wore togas on Wednesday to "Rome Over Dover." Thursday was a dress down day as we "Rocked Dover to Sleep" in baby attire and pajamas. Of course, Friday was the traditional "Red & Black" day. For added excitement the lights were turned off which helped to pump up the spirit!!

Trent Thompson & Josh O'Farrell contribute their style to the halls.

California Raisins Nicole Moreland & Missy Moeller add some creativity to the week.

Sophomore Laci Levengood is ready to "Rome Over Dover."

One Moment In Time

A special tribute to the Seniors

The Dover/Phila Pep Rally was not unlike past events. The scenery was the same but the procedure was revised. A different approach was taken in paying tribute to the seniors for their hard work throughout their high school careers. It gave spectators a look into their past and placed hope in the upcoming game. The final song brought inspiration and placed desire in the hearts of the players and fans alike.

The fans honor the Seniors in a candle lit ceremony.

Cedrick Kelly flutters about, spreading fairy dust over all of the players.

Senior girls show their Quaker Pride by telling Dover whose #1.

Mr. Jenkins becomes the victim of the Story Chain competition.

Julie Kopp and Michelle Roth let loose while the band plays a fight song.

Chad Dorsey and Tyler Elwood make their last entrance onto the floor in the spirit-filled gymnasium.

The Q.T.s finish off their skit by rolling over Dover.

Tyler Espenschied, Andrew Jensen, and David McCluggage cheer on the team.

Spartan cheerleaders, Laura Miller and Mike See, improve on the "Perfect Cheer".

Quick Start

Early lead wasn't enough to overcome Tornadoes

The cold wasn't enough to stop the Quakers from heating up the first quarter. Fans edged their seats as we scored the first touchdown within a minute of play. Soon after, the Quakers scored again to make it a 14-0 lead. The high hopes of fans and players were fading as halftime left us trailing by 21 points. Ready to fight back Quakers scored again but came up short. The team's hard work and determination wasn't enough, the game ended in a 66-21 loss. Dover had won again.

Quaker fans show their spirit.

Tricia Foster and Josh Miller wait on the bleachers for the song.

Josh, Lindsey, Scott, and Kasi hangout during the dance.

Mike Stephan and Deana Stevens blend together in their plaid shirts.

Doubling Up

Not only sweaters.

Students from area schools gathered at the YMCA for the annual sweater hop. This year's theme was Planet Hollywood. All the kids dressed in not only matching sweaters, but matching t-shirts and sweatshirts. The night started off good and ended good with everyone who came having a great time.

Re-Action

Ambitious Thespians Reincarnate Drama Department.

With a newly renovated auditorium, a determined teacher and hard working students, this long awaited drama production was a huge success. The play, "What I Did Last Summer" featured six characters: Charlie, played by Chad Anderson; Elsie who was Cathi DiDinato; Grace, played by Laura Tolan; Ted, played by Josh O'Farrell; Bonnie, who was Laura Miller and Anna Trumbell, played by Michelle Keffer. Taking place during World War II, the play shows the hardships of everyday life. Charlie is a fourteen year old kid who is dealing with a father away at war, problems with his sister and mother, and having to compete with his friend for Bonnie. He meets an eccentric teacher, Anna Trumbell, who teaches him to focus only on finding his true potential and not conforming to society.

Grace tells Charlie he's not allowed to see the Pig Woman.

Ted asks Bonnie on a date.

Charlie tries to convince Bonnie to go with him.

NP Golfers cross state lines.

Junior Chris Miller and senior David Gerber led sophomores Kevin Moore, Seth Taylor and freshman Blake Sattler all the way to the State Finals. The team had a fabulous year finishing with a record of 12-2. The varsity captured 1st place titles in the ECOL, Dover Invitational, Klars All-County, Sectional and District Tournaments. For only the second time in the school's history the NP golf team headed down to the High School State Championship in Columbus. The junior varsity had an outstanding year, also, finishing with a record of 12-1.

Up & Down

A season of highs and lows.

Both the Freshmen and Junior Varsity teams struggled at different times during the season. The freshmen ended with a record of 9-12 and the jv's ended with a record of 6-15. Scattered among the losses were several outstanding victories. The Freshmen's Highlights were defeating Dover twice in two games. "Dover was a tough team, but we came through and beat them," said Katie Zeller. The jv's were unable to defeat Dover this year but Brenna Judy replied, "Although our record wasn't too great, we all worked together as a team and became good friends."

On Target

Quakers have best finish in years.

The lady Quaker varsity volleyball team ended their season as district runner up, in Crooksville. They reached the districts by defeating Zanesville. In the district finals they were beaten by state ranked Chillicothe. The team ended the season with an over-all record of 13-10. They also went 8-4 in the ECOL and defeated everyone in the league at least once, including an exciting win over the Dover Tornadoes. The Quakers were led by, "All league" seniors, Danielle Archer (1st Team), Lauren Harris and Abby Petrullo both, (2nd Team) and Sarah Winn (honorable Mention).

Everyone is excited about beating Dover.

Determination

Relay team eyes Nationals.

The swim team had only 5 members, four boys and one girl. They practiced at the YMCA but still represented NPHS. After a strong showing in 1998 in which the relay team qualified for the Nationals, the team had high hopes of repeating. Relay member David Holder said, "It was hard for me this year participating in both wrestling and swimming, but the team had a great year."

Pin Ups

Wrestlers make history.

The Quaker Wrestlers finished their 1998-1999 year with a 18-4 record. Coach Nutter did an outstanding job in leading the team through a very successful season. The captains Troy Miller, D.J. VanWinkle, and Brian Tipka lead thier fellow wrestlers on a journey through this highly anticipated year. District qualifiers were: seniors VanWinkle, Miller and Tipka; and juniors Travis Van Fossen and Paul Zimmerman. This year's wrestling team had the most wins in school history.

TOUGH BREAKS

Injuries take their toll.

Handed the job, Phil Tidrick led the Quakers to many victories. The season took a turn and people joined in to support the winning team. Under Coach Tidrick the Quakers got off to a blazing start winning five in a row. The only thing that could stop the Quakers were injuries. (And they did.) By mid season the Quakers had lost the presence of several players to injury including sophomore stand-out Jeremiah Harding. The Quakers kept on fighting. Without the back up, the hopes, as well as the recorded, had fallen. Winning only two of the last eight games the blaze was just a flame.

Coach Tidrick gives all he's got.

Open for a pass is Dan Burson.

RUNAWAY

Girls' runaway with ECOL Championship.

The girls' track team proved just how much hard work and dedication truly pays off. After many long hours of practice, the Quakers began their season. And what a season it was! Not only were several personal goals achieved in the County Classic, where many first places were won, but, the team, as a whole, went far and beyond what any of them ever expected. The girls won the Leo Gundy Invitational, the Quaker Mini Relays, the Meadowbrook Invitational, and, for the first time ever in Quaker history, the ECOL Championship!

Freshman Rachel Burson gets positioned in her blocks.

Senior standouts David Shanabrook and John Dotts led a team that lacked a lot of varsity meet experience. Both David and John qualified for the regional track meet along with Mike Steele in the high jump and the 3200 relay team of Dotts, Erik Welker, Steve Borga, and Brent Burris.

Ron Dotts races to a first place finish.

Teamwork

There is no "I" in team.

The one thing you need to be on any team is to work together. Another thing you need are the basics. The one thing the coaches work on at every practice are the basics and different plays we need to learn to be a good team. Everyday at practice it consists of running, throwing, catching and hitting. Our coaches tell us the one thing we need to win is team work and basics. This season the "freshman" went through playing mostly JV teams from other schools. To our coaches the Freshman team was just a second JV team.

Winning Ways

Fresh. and JV teams have great seasons.

The Freshman and the JV baseball teams had very good teams. Both teams had winning records. The Freshmen ended up with a 10-6 record after getting off to a slow start. The JV team started off hot by winning six out of their first eight games. They lost two games in a row to a tough Indian Valley team and Coventry, but they ended strong with a 17-4 record. The JV team had two big wins against Dover and is looking forward to beating them again next year. The Freshmen team is also looking forward to continued success next year at the JV level. With all the talent moving up, the community and the players are looking forward to successful Quaker baseball teams in the future.

Sweet Sixteen

Quakers win at Districts.

The 1999 varsity baseball team had a great season as they finished 15-9. They were 8-4 at home and 7-5 when they were away. "The coaching staff and the players were all looking forward to a great season. We started out well but hit a real lull where we were just an average team. However, over the last 10 games we have been very good and that is a tribute to our players." - Coach Tidrick

Making It Happen

The Varsity cheerleaders have had a very successful year. Not only did they win numerous 1st and 2nd place awards at camp, they also won the Spirit Key, which is the biggest award at Cheer Ohio! They also traveled to the first ever ECOL cheerleading competition where they received 3rd place. Adding to all their excitement, they also cheered for a successful football and basketball team and an involved crowd.

Running the Show

Without the coaches and the trainers many sporting events would never happen. The coaches are always around to make the team better by giving them direction. The trainers attended nearly every practice and game all year round to help with minor injuries when they occurred.

Being a track coach keeps Mr. Zehnder smiling.

Trainers Todd Steele and Josh Miller are ready to come to the rescue if anyone gets injured.

Coach Veltri and Coach Kreinbuhl take a peaceful walk to discuss good practice technique.

Marsh takes the water off the course so the team can have an easier time.

B.J. Hothem looks on at a basketball game to see that no one gets hurt.

Making A Statement

Beginning last spring and lasting through March it was a great year for the QT's. With only one senior & ten new members they had planned on making this a building year. But with a lot of hard work and practice it turned out to be a lot more. The QT's earned second place at camp along with a Superior trophy. They also qualified & competed at national competitions in Orlando, Florida. Captain Nicole Moreland said, "It was tough being the only senior with a really young squad. But they all worked really hard and made my senior year the best."

Co-captains Amie Francis, Katy Weisgarber, and Angie Vick show their spirit at a pep rally.

Administration

Making the Call

Ten snow days in a row set a record for consecutive snow days. The two extra weeks extended Christmas vacation to a full month off of school. It was up to superintendent Doug Spade when to cancel school. He had the help of the county sheriff's department who instituted a 3-level measure of how bad the roads were.

Mr. Rowe is on the prowl for skippers.

Mr. Thompson works on schedules.

High School Principal Rick Sattler smiles after checking proficiency test scores.

Superintendent, Mr. Spade talks about when to make up the missed school days.

Mr. Carrothurs works on schedules for the custodians.

Hard at work

The 1998-99 yearbook class had a lot of things to get used to. With only two returning students there was training that had to be done. The new computer system also took some adjusting for everyone. There were pages to be assigned, stories to be written, & deadlines to be met. With all of the new students, the new computers, and an extra two weeks of Christmas Break time was limited.

Erin Myers & Lauren Keffer work on writing a story for their page.

Erin Myers & Lauren Keffer enjoy a trip down the hall.

Erin Johnson types in the finishing touches to her page.

Sophomores April Hildebrand, Kyle-Anne Fausel, and junior Steph Clark listen for directions.

Testing in Progress

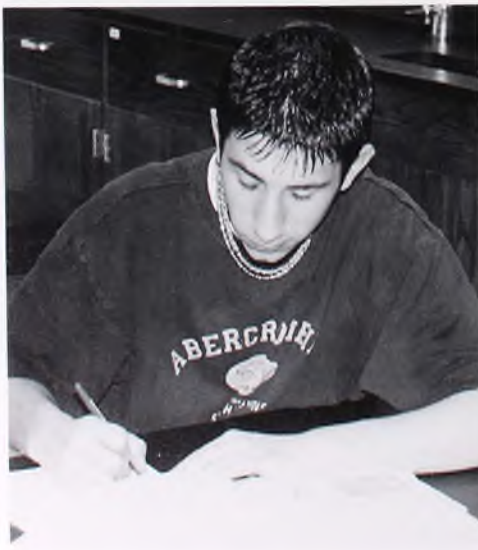

It seemed that every time we turned around it was time to take another test. If it wasn't for the specific class we were in, it was some state mandated test we had to take to graduate. We all knew we had to pass the freshman proficiency test to graduate. Anyone who had plans for college had the added pressure of the A.C.T.

Senior Missy Moeller works on an in-class assignment for Mrs. Petranek.

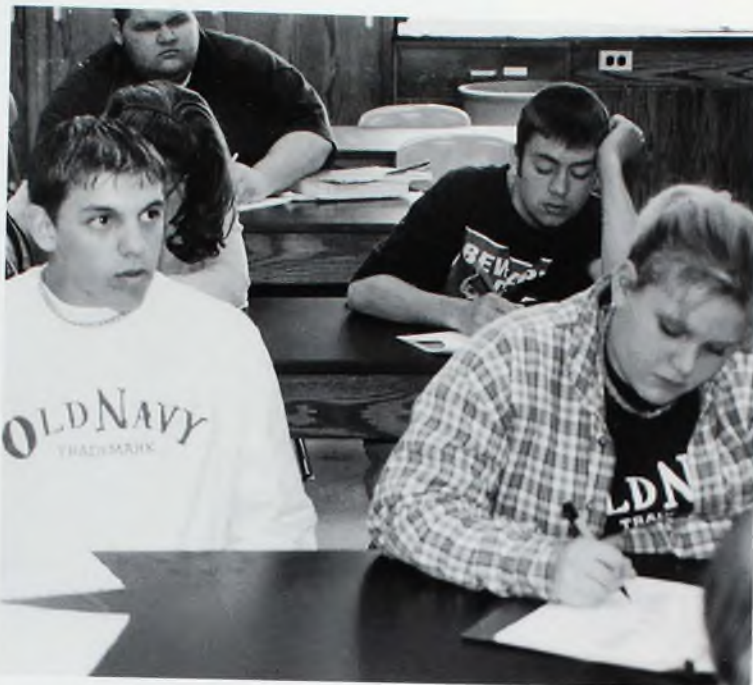

Computers in the library are just the ticket for Jenn Coniglio.

Bryan Gavin is intent on finishing his worksheet before the end of the period.

Student Council

Behind the Scene

Many of the activities around NPHS would not have been possible if not for the efforts of the student council. They decorated and funded Homecoming, along with Share-A-Christmas and many other worthwhile functions at the school.

Assistants

Helping Out

Many students volunteer their time to help out in the Guidance Office, Library and High School Office. The students are a big help to all the administrators. The students help out by answering the phone, taking messages, sending messages and whatever else the secretaries may need.

Class Officers

In Control

Class officers make many of their fellow students school-related decisions. They hold meetings each month to discuss things such as class dues and upcoming class functions. Senior class officers organize the school's Share-A-Christmas program, the senior t-shirt design contest, and the graduation announcements for the seniors. They also make sure all senior fees are paid for, and decide on the date and place of the trip.

Synchronicity

Synchronicity II came from music by Sting (The Police). The show concept this year was a circus. Costumes for performers included bass drums as elephants, the mallets/pitt were animals you knock down during a game, the quint's were two little boys enjoying the circus, and the cymbals were clowns. They also had characterization done by the snares. These included tattoo artists, animal trainers, and mimes. Synchronicity II had a lot of energy and difficult marching that the students worked very hard to perform.

Members of the pitt dressed as targets concentrate on their music.

Drew Andreatta and Justin Sleutz keep the beat during the snare feature.

Erin Brown waits for the judges to begin the show.

Teddy Wenger plays the quint's at New Phila's competition.

Ryan McIntire and Ryan Metzger play their cymbals during the performance.

Matt Anderson and Michael Case clown around as they play the cymbals.

The snare line keeps eye contact with the judges.

After playing, the drumline and guardsmen scramble to get everything off the floor so the other lines can perform.

Paul Hanzel listens for his entrance as he counts his rests.

Jeremy Gribble, as an elephant, plays his bass drum during a competition.

Tour of Duty

The 1999 Kaleidoscope show was definitely a tour of duty. The story started during a drill down at an all girls military academy. The girls worked hard getting their rifle, sabre and flag drills down perfect. As the music quieted down the girls went to their bunks for "a good nights sleep". Everyone knows when girls get together things get crazy (even at a military academy). At the end of the show everyone was awakened and a huge pillow fight erupted. The show was fun to watch and the girls loved to perform it.

Jessica Roudebush gets sleepy while she does her sabre work.

Christie Graham concentrates hard on her rifle work.

Concert Bands

On the Move

The 1999 Concert and Symphonic Bands were constantly on the move. They both performed at numerous concerts that each band practiced very hard for. The Symphonic Band went to Akron University to play for the O.M.E.A. Band Director's Conference in December. In March they traveled to Cleveland for a performance at Cleveland State University. The Concert Band performed at the Collage Concert with the Symphonic Band and winter lines. Both Concert and Symphonic Bands traveled to Stanton Middle School in Hammondsville for district competition where they both received superior ratings.

ONE Less Year

SAVING THE BEST FOR LAST

Class of '99 ends the century in style.

After all those years of school the end had finally arrived, and we were ready for it. We were the last class of the century, the last class who could do the class cheer "99", while the rest of the school struggled with "double zero" or "01". A new millenium was on the horizon but for us 1999 was the year to remember.

Helping Out

"Working the concession stands was a great opportunity to help the class and have fun at the same time."

- Monica Bravo

Every junior had the opportunity to work in the concession stand to help raise money for prom. Although it was called work, it was usually a lot of fun, unless you got stuck working with someone you didn't like. Overall everyone enjoyed the time they spent helping out their class.

Groupies

"This year was a lot of fun. I had a great time with my friends at the basketball games." - Steph Clark

Anytime we could get together we knew we would have a good time. We discussed our plans for upcoming events, and every once in a while actually watched part of the game. This time was used to relax, enjoy our free time, and catch up on the latest gossip. Although we didn't win every game we were undefeated in the stands.

Stuck In the Middle

"Sophomores still have two more years, but at least we're not Freshman." - Lauren Keffer

Sophomores are not the youngest in the school, but they are not the oldest either. They still are looked down on by some of the upper class men, but the good thing is they get to be the ones looking down on the "little" Freshman.

Passing the Years

"I hope the next two years go as quickly as this year did." - Kyle-Anne Fausel

Being a Sophomore opens opportunities for more activities. As sophomores they are able to play on Varsity, serve for prom and hassle the Freshman. Sophomores also become more serious about their future. They start making goals and setting their future plans.

"The snow days were exactly what we needed." - Thomasina Jackson

The weather was on our side this year. It gave us more time to spend with our friends. Though our studies were forgotten it sure made the year memorable having a whole month off of school. This is when sledding, snowball fights and snow men were on our minds and not Geometry, History or English.

Trying Their Best

"My freshman year was much more difficult than my 8th grade year due to higher standards." - Steph Maurer

Besides the fact that there were a lot of the class of 2002, they were the first class to have to have twenty-one credits instead of nineteen. Maybe it was because they were more academically inclined or maybe it was because the school board wanted to give them a hard time. Either way, they faced the challenge and worked as hard as they could.

Everlasting Spirit

"Pep Rallies always pumped me up for the games." - Britt Douglas

The sports events of the 1998-1999 school year were outstanding to the class of 2002. They got into the game and always had fun! The Q.T.'s and cheerleaders tried their best and succeeded in getting the crowd involved. Whether it was a volleyball game, a basketball game, or a football game, and no matter if we won or lost, the class of 2002's spirit never died.

"I want to be a member of the S.W.A.T. Team when I grow up." -Hanson Sponseller

The class of 2002 had big dreams and expectations. They wanted to give the new millennium something to look forward to and something to look back on. In the class of 2002 we had people who wanted to be professional volleyball players, soccer players, golf players, future dancers, S.W.A.T. team members, musicians, and teachers.

Snow Problem

"After the 5th snow day, I became very concerned about how I would get all my material covered by the end of May." - Mrs. Hossler

Although the extended Christmas break was enjoyable, it also caused a lot of frustration. While students were busy trying to get all of their extra homework done, the teachers were overwhelmed with trying to get all of their lesson plans completed in a seven week grading period. By eliminating exams and working hard, NPHS staff got the job done.

"Having new computers and software all over the school was great, but it took a lot of time to learn how to use them." - Joe Pry

With an emphasis on computers, teachers became students. Mr. Winn, the district technology coordinator, offered classes just about every night so that teachers from all over the district could become computer literate. Like students, teachers had to dedicate time and hard work to the new-age way of learning.

Creative Chaos

In the art department students from freshman to seniors worked all year on preparing for the Fine Arts Show in April. These students worked so hard and deserved to be commended as so. Students displayed work such as ceramics, painting, drawing, and mixed media. Seniors who have been accepted into art schools proudly displayed their work which got them into their school. Art, which is chaotic and emotional can be a link to many students' futures or can be a simple hobby. Whatever the situation may be, all students worked hard and did a great job.

Finally to the Point ...

The warm sunny day of June First, welcomed the class of '99 to the gates of Cedar Point. Once in, they spent their last high school moments together and made the day last forever. Never forgetting the ups and downs of their experiences both at the park and at school. Taking their last bus ride and their final group pictures, the seniors all enjoyed the "good times".

Melissa Herron and Jason Walters have fun before the Raptor.

One Last Gathering

On June, 6th the class of 1999 gathered one last time for graduation. It was a day that the graduates had been anticipating for a long time. The feeling of accomplishment made the class excited to get their diplomas. During the ceremony, the class listened to speeches by Valedictorians Timberly Humbert, Kristen Matter, and Josh Moore. When it was over, the graduates realized how fast the past four years had gone by and how many memories they would have of New Philadelphia High School.

Missy Moeller runs to her place in

Kim Edwards carries her diploma and a rose.

Todd Bracken, Derek Burger, Rob Zifer, and Jen Contini are all smiles.

Steve Borga receives his honor cords.

Matt Casimir stops and reflects.

Danielle "Ding" Caldwell struts to get her diploma.

Valedictorians Timberly Humbert, Josh Moore, and Kristen Matter wait to give their declamations.

Sarah Winn takes her last walk as an NPHS student.
